FARM CREDIT BANKS OF TEXAS RESPOND TO FCA'S CALL TO LOWER INTEREST RATES

July 2, 1986 — AUSTIN — The Farm Credit Banks of Texas, responded to a notice this week from its regulator in Washington, D.C. that the agency is ready to consider lowering interest rates for farmers.

James A. Rogers, chief executive officer of the Farm Credit Banks of Texas, today in Austin, said the Texas Federal Land Bank, which has been locked into an interest rate freeze for more than a year, was sending a request today to the nation's capital. The Texas bank first asked its regulator for an interest rate reduction in September of 1985.

The statement follows a news release issued by the Farm Credit Administration (FCA) that alerts district banks that FCA will approve interest rate reductions if the banks meet certain criteria.

"We're pleased that FCA has approved this plan for reducing interest rates to farmers," Rogers said. "We hope that they will act quickly in response to our request."

Rogers said the release didn't mean that FCA would grant blanket interest rate reductions for District Credit System borrowers. District banks wanting to lower interest rates must follow FCA guidelines. In previous requests to lower interest rates, the Texas board had been asking for a 1 percent across-the-board decrease for the Federal Land Bank. The last request was for one-half of one percent reduction which is all FCA says they will allow at this time.

Some criteria the banks must meet to get a favorable ruling on interest rate reductions include designing and implementing a program to obtain current financial statements from borrowers and effecting a program for restructuring loans for borrowers. FCA also urged the districts to offer programs based on differential interest rates, determined by borrower credit quality and classification.

The Texas Farm Credit System is comprised of the Federal Land Bank of Texas and its 44 Federal Land Bank Associations, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Texas, 28 Production Credit Associations and the Texas Bank for Cooperatives. Collectively, they have $4 billion in loans outstanding to 40,000 of the state's farmers, ranchers, aquatic harvesters and 147 rural utility cooperatives.

Prairie Edge Museum Notes

Many of you readers who were at least in your teens during the 1930's will probably be nostalgic concerning a certain artifact courtesy of Ethel Cone. This particular item is a Hillbilly flour sack from the W. Lee O'Daniel Flour Company in Fort Worth. Prior to heading this company W. Lee (Poppy) O'Daniel was with the Burns Mills of Fort Worth and was a very popular person in Texas about fifty years ago. While connected with the latter firm he connected a very famous group of singers known as "The Light Crust Doughboys." This group entertained many of us on the radio during the noon hour on weekdays. One of the numbers which they sang often and which was written by Mr. O'Daniel was "Beautiful Texas." W. Lee was elected governor of Texas by landslide votes both in 1938 and 1940. He later became a United States Senator.

We now have the three monkeys carrying the messages "See no evil," "Speak no evil," and "Hear no evil." This latest donation to our growing list of interesting items is from Emily Terrell who bought it at an antique shop in Kentucky after having read about my quest in The Headlight. She was visiting her daughter Ann, another of my former students whom I have just reason to be proud because of her progress in the field of education. I'm sure all my former students who read Silas Marner still well remember that particular class. I recently read that "the most enduring work of Victorian novelist George Eliot" will be staged by Masterpiece Theatre during the 1986-87 season. Recently I wrote that I would furnish an interesting fact about Eagle Lake each week, so here's the one for this report: "In 1903 probably the first car load of cucumber pickles ever to leave Texas was shipped by Bonus Mercantile Co. via Cane Belt Railway through Eagle Lake to New Orleans."

Our Sesquicentennial Year is over half gone, so be sure to visit our gift counter where a variety of Texas souvenirs and other gifts are available. We are accepting items for our next garage sale which probably won't be until 1987. These donations may be brought to the museum during regular opening hours 2-5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays and on many Monday and Tuesday mornings. We have the following bargains that are available now: tables, table lamps, luggage, and many, many books.

'Sesquicentennial gumbo bash' honors Beth Riley, Andrew Dow

On July 19, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moore and daughter, Laura, of Beaumont hosted a "sesquicentennial gumbo bash" honoring Beth Riley and Andrew Dow, whose wedding is scheduled for August 9.

Friends and family members gathered at Moore's summer home at Caplan Beach on the Bolivar Peninsula. The luncheon menu included dips, shrimp gumbo, rice, beans, zucchini stew and drinks. Dessert was a beautifully decorated cake in the shape of the map of Texas.

Colors of red, white and blue were used in table decorations and floral arrangements which were centered with miniature Texas flags. In the afternoon, Beth and Andy were presented with gifts suitable for usage "around the clock."

Couple plan August 2 wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Richter are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Krystal Lynn to James R. (Rat) Nowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Connie D. Nowell of Forest, Mississippi. The wedding is set for August 2 at the River Front home in New Braunfels, Texas.

Angetta Henry honored with shower July 19

Miss Angetta Yvette Henry, bride-elect of James Lynn of Marlin, was honored with a bridal shower on July 19 at the lovely home of Mrs. A.C. Banks in Garwood. Sharing hostess duties with Mrs. Banks were Mrs. A. Blanton, Mrs. V. Brown, Mrs. A. Norris and Mrs. C. Smith.

As guests gathered informally, they were offered fruit punch from a large amber punch bowl, with miniature sandwiches and tidbits as appetizers.

Heritage House News

By Patricia A. Horndt
Bible study was held Tuesday by Leslie Stewart of Wharton. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jones also visited and sang religious hymns with the residents. We enjoy Mr. Stewart's visits to our home for Bible study and we thank everyone who drops by for religious services.

The weekly movie time was held on Thursday and residents attending watched the film "Ship of Fools." It is an old movie and everyone delighted in seeing the film.

Heritage House welcomes Clarence L. Grace. Mr. Grace will reside in our home and his room number is 16B. We hope he will be comfortable and have a pleasant stay at Heritage House.

We want to thank all the generous people who donated pictures for our residents' rooms.

Doras Class meets at Jane Massey home

The Dorcas Class of the First Baptist Church met at the home of Jane Massey the evening of July 14. Elizabeth Booshe, teacher of the class, opened the meeting with prayer, after which Katherine York presided over the business session.

During the devotional period Jane read the chapter entitled "Angels - How They Differ From Man" from the book Angels by Billy Graham.

The hostess served delicious chicken salad and wafers along with tea or coffee.

The next meeting is scheduled for August 11 at the home of Jimmie Scott.

Colorado Valley Transit Inc. helps elderly and handicapped

Colorado Valley Transit Inc., a public transportation system, recorded a total of 390 passenger trips for June and 226 passenger trips for May. These passenger trips include health, medical, recreational and shopping for the elderly, handicapped and young. Mrs. Susan Ramirez (pictured) was the first rider of Eagle Lake.

As the overall Colorado County population ages, often living far from other relatives, problems of mobility in small and rural communities grow more pressing, especially for the elderly and handicapped. Colorado Valley Transit Inc. is trying to address this problem by expanding the local transit system.
