Christine Mayes, Jeffrey Andrejczak exchange vows

On Saturday, June 28, the St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Columbus was the setting of a Ginger Case. She wore a flower ruffled gown of tiered white lace ruffles, accented with a pink ribbon sash tied at the waistline. She carried a petite basket of pink and white spring flowers and wore a tiny cluster of matching blossoms in her hair.

The groom was attired in a formal all-white tuxedo with tails. Serving the groom as best man was the bride's brother, Jack Mayes. Groomsmen were cousins of the groom, Charles Kainer of El Campo and Howard Springer of Hempstead; the groom's brother-in-law, Scott Glass of Wharton, and friends, James Engbrock of Sugar Land and Troy Hagendorf of San Marcos. Junior groomsmen were Travis Glass, the groom's nephew. They all wore full dress silver tuxedos with tails. The bride's bridesmaids were the groom's sisters, Christine Lynn Mayes and Christine Lynn Mayes. They wore full dress silver tuxedos with tails. The bride's bridesmaids were the groom's sisters, Christine Lynn Mayes and Christine Lynn Mayes. They wore full dress silver tuxedos with tails.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Mayes of Rock Island. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Andrejczak of Sugar Land.

Evelyn Hincir, organist, provided various musical accompaniment with the traditional "Wedding March" and "Bridal Chorus." She also accompanied the bride's cousin, Aileen Peck, as she sang "Oh Perfect Love," "The Wedding Song," "Walk Hand in Hand," "Endless Love." Pianist was Jane Thomas. She accompanied Carl Milest as he sang "The Rose," "What a Difference You've Made in My Life," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Pairs of swirling brass candelabra, Boston ferns, and giant potted pink callalilies decked each side of the sanctuary. Matching baskets of pink and white spring flowers and altar candles decorated the church altar. Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a designer gown of white tulle and Alencon lace. The fitted bodice which was lavishly applied with re-embroidered lace, bridal pearls and ribbons, rose to form a sculptured Sabrina neckline. Classic upturned sleeves ended in sheer beaded lace cuffs. Motifs of lace were scattered throughout the gown. The softly gathered skirt fell to slipper length and was held with a delicate bustle at the back which swept into an extended chapel train accented with a wide border of beaded Alencon lace at the hemline.

In her hair, the bride wore a wreath fashioned in silk flowers, pearl sprays, and lace, which held her chapel length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and pink roses, surrounded by English ivy and fresh green fern.

Attendants
Matron of honor was the bride's cousin, Lisa Haude, of East Bernard. Bridesmaids were friends of the bride, Kim Wunderlich and Jennifer Quinney, both of Sheridan; Sharon Church of Wharton, and sisters of the groom, Pam Andrejczak of Houston and Sarah Glass of Wharton. Junior bridesmaid was Crystal Glass, the groom's niece.

The attendants wore identical gowns of pastel pink Lalic tulle. The fitted bodices were accented with sweetheart necklines and French puffed sleeves. Graceful bows were tied at each sleeve. From a basque waistline, the fully gathered skirts fell to floor length. The bridesmaids carried pink roses tied with baby's breath, greenery and lace ribbon, and wore miniature roses tied in the hair.

The groom's table held a white three-tiered peppercorn cake topped with a golden yellow layer in the star shape of a deputy's badge. It was inscribed: "Wharton County Sheriff's Department," denoting the groom's occupation. A miniature patrol car, handcuffs, and revolver were located at the outside edge of each cake ring. The cake was surrounded with fresh green fern. The groom's table also held a silver coffee service and the bride and groom's silver champagne bucket and glasses.

The bride and groom's tables were separated by a large round table where guests enjoyed champagne flowing from a large silver champagne fountain. All three tables were embellished with heavy white lace tablecloths and fully gathered lace floor-length skirts.

Cheeses, crackers and smoked meats were served from a round table centrally located in the hall. A delicious barbecue dinner, with all the trimmings, was catered by Mike's & Co. of Columbus.

Members of the house party were the bride's cousins: Carl Droz, Alencon Kanak, Connie and Brandy Taylor, Jennifer Stock, Kathy Botard and Aileen Peck.
