

Xi Psi Psi Fall report

Xi Psi Psi began this sorority year as guests of Alpha Delta Phi at a lakeside hamburger party. At this time members were introduced to the pledge candidates. Also, members were pleased to welcome back Beverly Taylor. The next meeting was held at Ernie Sommerlatte's on Sept. 5, 1986. Programs were handed out and the rubens' model meeting was scheduled for Sept. 16, 1986 at Jean Williams'. Sept. 9th, members enjoyed a Rice Raider spirit party after the game at Ernie's. It apparently worked, because the Raiders advanced to Bi-District.

Sept. 16th, the members of Xi Psi Psi were pleased to receive Sandy Thomson as a pledge. Members took part in a skit that depicted the various stations and sisterly intent of the organization.

Xi Psi Psi also sponsored Suzanne Cornan as their entry in the Garwood Fairness of the 1st contest. On Oct. 7, members met at Linda Balas' home and were reminded of the home Convention in Beaumont on Nov. 14-16. Kay Clifton presented a program on stress management. Pat Cook hosted the meeting. Oct. 21, members shared the excitement of winning a second place ribbon for the float entry in the Colorado County Fair. Joe Wendel proved an excellent program on computers.

The Nov. 4th meeting was held at Ernie Sommerlatte's with Mary Lou Szymanski giving the program "What Beta Sigma Phi means to me." She explained that individuals continue to grow in every phase of life and experience. Nov. 18th members met at Linda Balas' and then went to Sealy for a meal at the Pepper Mill. Members exchanged Christmas ornaments with their secret sisters. A donation of a basket for the needy was made and discussed. Plans were also made for participation in the Christmas Parade, Dec. 13. Ernie Sommerlatte was presented with a silver spoon for her new grandson, Scott Davidson Cameron. Several members dressed as elves and visited the Heritage House, where they decorated the doors for the season.

The Dec. meeting was held at Linda Balas'. A short meeting was held and members drew for new secret sisters. Following the meeting, a Christmas celebration was held, during which time, secret sisters for the preceding year were revealed. During the social husbands exchanged gag gifts.

Candlelight ceremony unites Wegenhoft, Gertson

A beautiful candlelight wedding ceremony on January 3 united Anna Wegenhoft, of Columbus, and John Gertson, of Lissie, at the First Baptist Church in Columbus. Anna is the daughter of Travis Wegenhoft of Eagle Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Simmons of Columbus. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Helen Wegenhoft of Columbus and Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Harrison Sr. of Eagle Lake. John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gertson of Lissie and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gertson of Lissie and the late Mrs. Cecil Austin.

Given in marriage by her father, Anna looked radiant in her designer gown of candlelight satin and tulle. She explained that individuals continue to grow in every phase of life and experience. Nov. 18th members met at Linda Balas' and then went to Sealy for a meal at the Pepper Mill. Members exchanged Christmas ornaments with their secret sisters. A donation of a basket for the needy was made and discussed. Plans were also made for participation in the Christmas Parade, Dec. 13. Ernie Sommerlatte was presented with a silver spoon for her new grandson, Scott Davidson Cameron. Several members dressed as elves and visited the Heritage House, where they decorated the doors for the season.

The Dec. meeting was held at Linda Balas'. A short meeting was held and members drew for new secret sisters. Following the meeting, a Christmas celebration was held, during which time, secret sisters for the preceding year were revealed. During the social husbands exchanged gag gifts.

Mrs. John Gertson

'skala and Valerie Benge, all friends from Texas A&M, Amy Elliott of Columbus and Stephanie Simmons, her sister. Out-of-town guests included Lt. Col. and Mrs. Stephen Lawrence and their family of Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lawrence and their family from Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison from Wimberly, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Jackson from Houston, the John Parker family from Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Taylor of Sealy and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wm. Wegenhoft of Houston. In the center of the hall was the bride's cake adorned with fresh flowers, the groom's chocolate cake, wedding punch and Irish cream coffee. Round tables were skirted with white lace over green and centered with winter greenery around hurricane chimneys with candles. Dozens of white poinsettias clustered around areca palms placed around the hall and white poinsettia trees were on either side of the arch trimmed in greenery and white doves.

For their honeymoon, John and Anna chose a Caribbean cruise. Following that they will resume studies at Texas A&M and plan to graduate in May. They will make their home in Eagle Lake.

Wedding parties On October 11, Anna was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by Ms. Sue Wegenhoft Briscoe, Ms. Helen Schindler and Mrs. Barbara Frank. Sandwiches, cake and punch were enjoyed while guests watched Anna open her first wedding gifts. Special guests were Anna's great aunt, Mrs. Anna Mae Schulerberg and her grandmother, Mrs. W.H. Harrison Sr. of Eagle Lake.

On January 2, the bride's aunts, Mrs. Bettie Hankamer of Houston and Mrs. Rosanne Pollard of Austin gave Anna a bridesmaid luncheon at Anna Lee's Kitchen in Eagle Lake. Quiches, spinach salad, mini muffins and chocolate mousse completed the menu and guests were served in Mrs. Higgins' formal dining room set in a dusty rose theme.

Also on January 2, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gertson gave a rehearsal dinner in their beautiful home in Lissie. Around 48 guests, including members of the wedding party and their families, enjoyed a buffet of prime rib, spinach salad, strawberry gelatin salad, assorted vegetable dishes, homemade rolls and two kinds of cheesecake. Mrs. Gertson read a nostalgic description of what a bride and what a groom is, Anna and John then exchanged their wedding gifts and presented gifts to their wedding party. Mr. and Mrs. Gertson presented the couple with eight place settings of their silver.

On January 3, Mr. and Mrs. Dill Harrison of Alleyton provided the bride's family with assorted sandwiches, chips and dark chocolate cake with mousse filling. On Sunday following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Harrison Sr. entertained the bride's family and relatives for luncheon at The Farris 1912 in Eagle Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Gertson had their family for dinner at their home.

Couple plan January 24 wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kubena, of Nada, announce the engagement of their daughter, Johanna Marie, to Roger Eliot Dunnam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dunnam of Friendswood. The bride-elect is a Rice High School graduate and is now employed by the Sisters of Charity Medical Foundation in Clear Lake City. The future bridegroom is a graduate of Friendswood High School and is self-employed as a welder/mechanic.

The couple plans to be married at four o'clock the afternoon of January 24 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Nada.

Flowmeters save irrigation water East Bernard

"A flowmeter placed on a well discharge or at the inflow point of a field will provide a flow rate and keep an accurate record of how much irrigation water has been applied," says Ronnie Skala, irrigation engineer with Soil Conservation Service.

"Most producers do not have an accurate way of measuring irrigation water used," said Skala. "As a result," he added, "often too much water is applied during the flush and flood periods. This excess water becomes runoff that is sometimes as high as thirty inches. If this water is pumped or purchased on a volume basis, the cost of the wasted water can be more than $45 per acre. Since a flowmeter may eliminate this waste, the $500 necessary to purchase one can be justified."

The use of a flowmeter can help to reduce the amount of runoff that is due to excess water applied. By using a flowmeter each time a field is flushed, the amount of water needed should be determined. During a flood period, a flowmeter can be used to determine the volume of water required so that no runoff will occur. If water needs to be added to an existing flood and the field area is known, the volume of water needed may be calculated and then measured into the field using the flowmeter.

A diary or logbook of flowmeter readings and water use for individual fields should be kept from year to year. This information can be used in future production years to decrease water use.

Flowmeters should be installed at control points in the delivery system. In canals and laterals, flowmeters can be placed in pipes installed through the canal bank at the inlet of a field. In irrigation pipelines, a flowmeter may be installed at the water source or beginning of the pipeline. If the pipeline serves several fields at once, it may be desirable to install a flowmeter on each outlet, or use a portable flowmeter to check the flow rate of each outlet.

According to Skala, if a producer would like more information about using flowmeters or other water saving facts, the local Soil Conservation Service can help.

Conservation assistance Conservation assistance was provided to John Miller, who recently signed an RC&D contract to reclaim a badly eroding gully on his place south of Weimar.

During the week of Dec. 1-5, the slide program "The Story of Land—It's Use and Misuse Through the Centuries" was shown to 1134 elementary, junior high and high school students in schools throughout Colorado County. This helped to kick-off the annual Colorado SWCD poster and essay contests.

District cooperators Tommy Hicks, of the Oakland area, is controlling McCortney R-2 with chemicals. William and Howard Hoegeneyer, of the Weimar area, are planning to control erosion by shaping and establishing eroded areas to grass.

Jack Muggli, a district cooperator of the Weimar area, was given technical assistance on an erosion project.

Americanism project The December 1986 Americanism project of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary for school children was the giving of a booklet entitled "Etiquette of the Stars and Stripes" to each student at Eagle Lake Middle School on December 1. Lila Armstrong, patriotic instructor, is presenting a copy to Charles Abel, principal of the Middle School, along with President Helen Supak.

Fruit tree planting is here

By Leroy J. Hajdik, County Extension Agent January and February are fruit and pecan tree planting times in Colorado County. Individuals planning to plant fruit or pecan trees should visit their local nurseryman now to pick up their trees. In the event your variety is not in stock, it still can be ordered in time for this year's plantings season.

One should plant their trees immediately upon purchase to maintain moist healthy roots. If one cannot plant immediately, unwrap the root package and place the tree in a trench at a 45 degree angle and spread the roots with moist soil. Cover over the roots prior to placement in the trench. The site should be on the shaded side of a building or under a tree.

Recommended fruit varieties for Colorado County are as follows: peaches—Springgold, Bicentennial, June Gold, Rio Grande, Harvest, Feliciano, Dixiel and Textar; pears—Orient, Keiffer, LaCorte, Monterey, Fan-Still, Pineapple, and Garber; figs—Texas Everbearing, Celeste, and Alma; apples—Ein Shemer, Anna, Dorsett, Gold, and Mollie's. Delicious plums—Methley, Allred, and Bruce.

Pecan varieties are: Desirable, Choctaw, Cheyenne, Kiowa and Caddo. More details on fruit and nut varieties is available at the county Extension office.

Fruit workshop A workshop program of interest to dooryard peach and plum growers will be held in Columbus at 10 a.m. on Friday, Jan. 16. The program will be held at the Jack Jones residence located at 1903 Charter Street in Columbus.

Tree planting, pruning, insect control, disease control, and general management will be discussed. Actual planting and pruning of trees will be demonstrated.
