4 Cards of Thanks

Dear Friends,
Valentine's Day is a time to say we love you. Judy and I give our love and heartfelt thanks to all our friends, especially the Garwood Lions Club, for helping establish a special fund for Chad's recovery from his diving accident.
Since it was difficult to get an accurate list of everyone who contributed to Chad's fund, it was impossible for us to properly thank each one of you individually.
We are truly grateful for all the generous contributions, the special prayers and the many kind thoughts that have been offered.
Chad is at home now to stay and is progressing very well. His courage and determination to get a little better each day can be directly attributed to your thoughtfulness.
Thank you for being good friends and especially for caring about someone who is very special to us. May God bless you and your families.
Randy, Judy & Tracie Waligura

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to Dr. Jose Ugarte and Dr. Robert Hillary, the hospital staff, to all my friends and relatives who visited me, to Msgr. Schmidtzinsky and Father Jesse Euresti for their prayers, for the flowers, gifts and cards I received while in the Eagle Lake Hospital and to my family and the Jolen Struskas where I have been the past month. May God bless you all and a great big "Thank you."
Ella Struska

Columbus Livestock Market Report

The market continued strong again this week with a good run of cattle on hand for this time of the year due mostly to the prices drawing cattle off of winter grazing. Prematurely, steer calves were strong on all classes with a heavier weight bringing a lot of dollars per head. Heifer calves also were strong in all areas, says George Hagan and Don McAlister.

If we can be of any assistance in marketing or hauling your livestock, call collect 409-732-2622 or 409-732-5841. We have top market sales at Columbus Livestock Market every Thursday.

Texas farm crisis hotline opens

"Gulf Coast farmers under financial stress now have a local center to advise them on their options," according to Nancille Gallimore, director of the Texas Farm Crisis Hotline.

"Thanks to the generosity of the Trull Foundation of Palacios and the cooperation of Wharton County Junior College, the hotline has opened a financial counseling center in the administration building of the college.

Donald Kopnicky, a Bay City rice farmer, will staff the center which provides financial counseling referrals for legal, emotional and financial problems.

"Wharton County Junior College is an ideal site since it has job training, financial aid, and further educational opportunities all in one place," noted Kopnicky.

The center has been open since January 12 and has already been flooded with over 200 farm callers. The Gulf Coast contains the second largest concentration of commercial family farmers who have been hardest hit by the current depression in agriculture.

In 1986, 19.4 percent of Gulf Coast farmers surveyed expected to leave agriculture by the end of the year. Most cited financial difficulties as the reason for leaving.

None of the major crops grown in the area are bringing market prices which allow the average farmer to break even on their costs according to a recent study by Texas Tech University.

For more information, call the Texas Farm Crisis Hotline at (409) 532-1131 or go to the center located in the administration building at WCJC, 911 Boling Highway in Wharton.

Pavement markers being installed in county

Traffic safety improvements, in the form of reflective pavement markers, will be installed on 275 miles of roadway in a nine-county area in southeast Texas.

The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission awarded a $126,246.50 contract to D.I.J. Construction Inc. of Bertram for the work on 42 different sections of roadway.

The reflective payment markers will assist motorists by increasing the visibility of the center stripe in the roadways at night and during inclement weather.

Carl O'Neill, maintenance engineer with the Yoakum highway district, is in charge of the project which is expected to take about 60 working days to complete.

Some payment markers will be replaced, while others will be installed in new locations in the following counties: Austin, Calhoun, Colorado, Fayette, Gonzales, Jackson, Matagorda, Victoria and Wharton.
