Who's zat?
by ANESSA WILLIAMS
What? I don't have time to be posing for a picture. This little girl seems like she's not too happy to be sitting here.
When this picture was passed around, no one was fooled. No clues were needed and after only seconds of spotting this little girl, everyone knew who she was.
Among the correct guessers were Vicki Drlik, Brad Baumgarten, Brian Center, Rachel Weishuhn, Walt Meitzen, Jamie Wesselski, Matt Weller, Welby Horton and Becky Faichtinger. They all knew she was Tressa Sewell.
Tressa is a member of the Mighty Raider Band and an active member of the junior class.
Tressa is the daughter of Linda Sewell of Garwood.

Who's got student pride?
By CHRISTINA SMITH
Who's got student pride? The answer to this question is this week's Student Pride Award winner, senior, Russell Labay. Russell is the son of Del and Kate Labay of Garwood.
Russell was quite surprised when he learned of his winning. "I didn't think I had done anything extra special to receive an award." During his years at Rice, Russell feels his biggest influence to work hard has come from Mr. Joe Wendel. His most memorable moment at Rice was being selected to the National Honor Society.
After graduation Russell plans to attend college and major in business, and to play baseball in college.

Meet the Mighty Rice Raiders
By BECKY FAICHTINGER
We take time out this week to recognize Kevin Williams, a junior playing wing and guard for the Mighty Raiders. Kevin who wears jersey #10, feels that the team is doing a great job this year. He also stated that they have great offensive and defensive schemes, but he feels that they always get down on themselves when they mess up.
Kevin, a three sport athlete, also plays football and runs track. Kevin's interests include eating out with the fellas, and of course shooting that hoop. Kevin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams of Eagle Lake.

Meet the Lady Raider
By LARAINA PENCE
This week, Cassandra Edwards is in the "Meet the Raider" spotlight. Cassandra, otherwise known as "Cookie", is a junior who plays the position of forward on the JV Lady Raider basketball team. Cookie was asked why she liked basketball this year, and she answered, "I love playing basketball and being a Lady Raider because of the unity of the team, and the pride that the team has in being Lady Raiders." Cookie also stated that the team wasn't expected to do well, but they have proven that the Lady Raiders can beat the odds.
Other than being active in basketball, Cookie is involved in FHA, FTA and track.
Cookie is the granddaughter of Mrs. Jerline Edwards of Matthews.

Nose Spray for Bedwetting
According to a recently published report, 2 to 3 million children in the United States ages 3 to 18 suffer from nocturnal enuresis, a condition commonly referred to as nighttime bedwetting. Recent research indicates that bedwetting at night may be related to low levels of ADH, a hormone that normally increases in quantity during the night. ADH controls the production of urine. It is thought that low ADH levels lead to the overproduction of urine and, in some cases, bedwetting.
Recently the U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved a new use for a prescription medicine that should provide relief to many who suffer from bedwetting. The medicine is made by Rorer Pharmaceutical Corporation and is called DDAVP. A long term study of DDAVP nose spray in 34 individuals resulted in total cessation of bedwetting in 70 percent of those who used the spray.
According to the Director of Medical Services at Rorer, the effectiveness of DDAVP is related to its ability to correct the low nighttime levels of ADH. The initial recommended dose of DDAVP nasal spray is 0.1 ml sprayed in each nostril at bedtime.
