Richards... wins some, loses some

Activist Governor Ann Richards, striving to install her "new Texas" theme in the halls of state government, won some and lost some last week in skirmishes on the House floor, Central Texas voting boxes and the Supreme Court bench.

Central Texas voters, including some from Richards' hometown of Waco, threw out tradition and elected a Republican for the first time in a special Senate seat election.

And enough House members ignored her personal beseeching to defeat one of her pet issues, a proposed constitutional amendment creating a state lottery.

But two days later, with the announced resignation of state insurance board member James Saxton, Richards found herself on the brink of controlling insurance board votes—a key step to fulfill her campaign promise to lower insurance rates.

Another resignation scalp that fell her way was Texas Department of Commerce director Bill Taylor.

Tax bill looming
After the house scuttled the lottery, Richards said lawmakers had better be prepared to raise taxes.

The following day, a Texas Supreme Court ruling on school finance reform indicates the tax bill, when it arrives at her desk, may be larger than anticipated even with lottery money.

Democrats have advanced legislation which takes local tax dollars from rich districts and gives them to poor school districts.

wide capture and redistribution.
Voting with the majority were the four Republicans and Justice Jack Hightower, a former Democratic congressman.

The Court also decided that additional local tax dollars could be used for local enrichment, even if doing so causes inequities between the rich and poor districts.

The defeat prompted Justice Lloyd Doggett, a pillar of liberalism, to cry foul by the conservatives.

But Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, translating legalese for the press, said, "It means that you can't take local money to make a system efficient. It takes state dollars."

Panel backs income tax
The Texas Association of Taxpayers' executive committee has recommended a state income tax as part of an overhaul of the state tax system.

If endorsed by the group's board of directors, the association would become the first major business group to come out in favor of the highly controversial income tax.

The association is made up of 2,500 members representing business and profession.

Other highlights
-State Rep. Sam Johnson, R-Dallas, said he will run for the congressional seat being vacated by Steve Bartlett, who will run for Dallas mayor.

-The Legislature must begin redistricting now, even though U.S. census figures are provisional and may be adjusted later, Attorney General Dan Morales ruled last week.

American Rice Growers Association Report

Exports have been very slow recently with the shortage of buyers and new markets moving slowly.

Thailand rice prices are down slightly; no new sales on good quality rice. The new change in the Thailand government has not affected the World Market.

Mexico recently bought small quantities of rice from Vietnam.

California still has an unsolved water problem for their new crop, despite recent rains.

Iraq's need for food is increasing according to some sources. Iraq's food production is also a problem with very little labor force left to do the work, due to the Persian Gulf War.

Many acres of rice land in the Philippines is declared a disaster due to drought.

There may well be a possibility of Manila needing rice in the future, U.S. rice may again reach this country.

Locally the rice market is not moving with little or no trading at this time.

Pvt. Chester Glaister, stationed at Camp Wallace was a recent visitor in the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary Glaister. Mr. and Mrs. B.L. Stapleton heard from their son, Bill, last week and were happy to learn that he has been promoted to first class seaman.

Pvt. William Engbrock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Engbrock, arrived in town Friday for a furlough from Blythe, California. Pvt. Clyde Muesse and Pvt. William Foster, both of Garwood, are stationed at Sheppard Field.

Clyde Penn, 18, son of James Penn, entered training at the Naval Station in Great Lakes. Clifton Tyler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tyler, has been promoted to Corporal.

Joe Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Kelly of Houston, was a Headlight visitor this week. Joe and family are family residents of Eagle Lake and he was en route to San Antonio for a brief rest from duties with the merchant marines.

Raise a flag to show your support

The overwhelming and tremendous support the American people gave its troops in the Middle East is one of the key reasons we successfully reached our objectives in bringing the war to a prompt end. We enter yet another phase and it remains crucial that we continue the momentum of our support in the aftermath of our soldiers return home.

House Concurrent Resolution 44, which passed on Feb. 20, calls on the American people to display the American flag in support of U.S. troops in the Persian Gulf. I supported the Resolution and I encourage you to honor our troops by flying your American flag.

Support your local servers

To the Citizens of Eagle Lake:

When you sit down to eat at a fancy restaurant or cafe, do you notice the person that waits on you? Well maybe we, as citizens, have a habit of throwing down change or maybe we are just watching every dollar. Those people serving you that afternoon lunch or that big steak and little salad or even that morning cup of coffee are part of the working class, too. They have families and lives. We need to take time out to recognize those men and women. They are there for you; to you don't have to cook or do the dishes. Maybe we overlook these people.

Did you know that when your check is presented, you should tip him or her at least 15 percent of that bill. This is not a law, just common courtesy. When George Bush came to Houston for the Summit meeting, he took time out to thank those people who served them. He also was proud of the Houstonians for being so hospitable. We too need to take time out, not only to wake up and smell the coffee, but to support your local server. Next time you go out remember this tip!

Sincerely,
The Unknown Server

Virnau & Sons celebrates 30 years of business

March 12, 1961 W.A. Virnau, Sr., Harry Virnau and Walter A. Virnau, Jr. formed the partnership of W.A. Virnau & Sons starting their location was the questest behind the Virnau home in Sealy. Leroy Brast and Paul Downey began working for the company as mechanics then, and are still employed by the company.

As the company grew, it was decided that a parts outlet was needed in the Eagle Lake area to better serve the customers. So in 1965 one was opened in the Main Auto Supply Store.

In 1966, W.A. Virnau, Sr. retired and Bill Virnau took over his dad's interest of the business. The three brothers then formed the corporation of W.A. Virnau & Sons, Inc.

1971 brought about some major changes in the corporation. Walter Virnau, Jr. became sole owner-manager of the company. As more lines of farming equipment became part of the dealership, Walter decided to move the store location to a larger place. In 1973 fourteen acres were acquired on Highway 36 and on November 8 the dealership moved into the 20,000 square foot building they presently occupy.

During the next few years a number of storage warehouses were built both in Sealy and Eagle Lake. In 1977, Walter wanted a permanent location for the Eagle Lake operation so a storage warehouse was renovated and a parts and service repair outlet from the Sealy store was opened on FM 3013. This store is managed by Henry Divin.

The mid 80's were difficult times for farmers and implement dealers. Not a lot of building growth was done during this period. But in 1988, Walter decided the opportunity was right to branch out and open a Case-IH dealership on Hwy 77 in La Grange. The name of this business is South Central Power & Equipment. Eugene Niemeyer is the manager of this store.

Walter states that he appreciates the loyalty of his customers through these thirty years and wishes to thank each of you for your business.

Walter and his son Jeff, who joined his father in the family business in January of 1988, invites everyone to drop by W.A. Virnau & Sons, Inc. in Sealy on March 12, for their 30th anniversary open house.

Math workshop for parents

A math workshop for parents of students in grades PK-8 will be held in Eagle Lake, Garwood and Sheridan during the week of March 18-20. The workshop will focus on problem-solving skills which is the main emphasis of the TAAAS and California Achievement Test math sections.

Babysitting services will be provided and translators will be available for Spanish-speaking parents.

The workshops will be presented at the following dates, times and locations: Eagle Lake (for both ELPS and ELMS parents): Tuesday, March 19, 7 p.m., at the Eagle Lake Primary School Gymnasium; Garwood: Wednesday, March 20, 4 p.m., at the Garwood School Cafeteria; Sheridan: Thursday, March 21, 4:30 p.m., at the Sheridan School Library.

Please plan to attend this important workshop. California Achievement Test will be given in April.
