This week's volleyball spotlight shines on Senior Becky Korenek who wears jersey number 11. When asked who the team's most formidable opponent is to be, she answered, "Our upcoming matches with Bellville will be tough, but our toughest opponent is ourselves. We tend to lose ourselves in our games."

Becky's biggest influences are her peers. She says that she pushes herself to do her best because of them. Outside of school Becky enjoys playing the piano, volleyball and being with her friends. Becky is the daughter of faced, the first thing we asked Kevin was how these injuries have affected the team. He claims that the injuries stop the team from playing as one. Kevin states that despite having an 0 and 4 record, thinking of a winning season keeps him motivated. Kevin also says they have been working hard on everything during practice to improve because there is nothing that does not need a little work.

As far as football is concerned, Kevin's biggest inspiration is Walter Payton. Outside of football, Kevin enjoys hunting and fishing and his favorite subject is drafting. Kevin's plans for the future include attending college on either a football or baseball scholarship. Kevin shows a lot of leadership and dedication in the classroom and on the field. We are proud of him and wish him the best of luck on all of his endeavors. Kevin is the son of Nancy and Pat Bounds of Rock Island.

Vertexes, vertical angles, volume — Volkmer

By AMY LEOPOLD

The newest addition to the math department at Rice is Ms. Mary Jeanette Volkmer. She teaches Algebra I, Algebra II PAP (pre-advanced placement), Algebra II PAP and Pre-Calculus. Ms. Volkmer thinks teaching at Rice is a very pleasing experience. She claims it is very relaxed and friendly, and most of the students have a desire to learn.

When asked about the students at Rice, Ms. Volkmer said, "They are kids—no better, no worse, no different from any place else."

We wish Ms. Volkmer the best of luck while teaching at Rice.

Sleepy-eyed students wake up to UIL SuperConference events

By SHANNON SMITH

On Saturday, Sept. 28 at 6 a.m., 19 sleepy-eyed students equipped with pillows and blankets boarded a bus to travel to the University of Texas for the UIL SuperConference. The purpose of the SuperConference was to help get students and coaches acquainted with the rules of the UIL academic contests in preparation for the spring meets.

Students could attend any of the following sessions: computer science, spelling, accounting, literary criticism, current issues/events, journalism, ready writing, number sense, mathematics, calculator applications, science, speech, and one-act play.

Cosmetology club holds elections

On September 25, 1991, the Cosmetology class had its first Vocational Industrial Clubs of America meeting. The club is made up of 20 VICA members with nine seniors and 11 juniors. The first order of business was the election of officers.

The 1991-92 VICA officers are: President, Maria Lizcano; Vice-President, Lily Lopez; Treasurer, Veronica Granillo; Reporter, Sandra Cordero; Parliamentarian, Viola Ledezma; and Historian, Silvia Ledezma.

The Rice Cosmetology Department cordially invites the public to visit and receive services from the biggest salon in Texas.

Smile Seniors!

By VICKI DRIK

The excitement of being a Senior is slowly, but surely arriving. It all began happening on Aug. 20 and 21 at Rice High School when the Prestige Company took pictures for many of the Seniors. Poses ranged from ten to twenty different settings. Prices were $100 to $500.

Proofs have already been shared with friends who have discussed the ones to choose from. Since all the pictures seem to appear perfect, students are having difficulties choosing the five best to order. Seniors will soon send off their proofs and then wait anxiously for the finished products, while parents and close relatives will be searching for that special place to display it.

Nutrition professionals at work

By JENNIFER WIED

Many students don't think about the work that is involved in the preparing of their lunches every day. These hard working ladies are definitely the early birds at Rice. They begin preparing breakfast and lunch at 6:45 every morning. They are on a tight schedule, having to be ready to serve at 11:15 for lunch A, followed by the second meal (lunch B) at 12:10. Immediately after lunch B, they begin cleaning up and are usually finished around 2:30.

They know how many people to cook for by keeping accurate records of the number of people who eat every day. For example, almost every Wednesday they know to prepare between 300 and 350 hamburgers. They feel that the quickest and easiest meal for them to prepare is probably corn dogs.

Every day one can find this dedicated staff working their little hearts out to keep the impatient students happy. Patsy Fuller can usually be found at the snackbar and Marie Glover can be found keeping a close count of the people going through the line. Maggie Henderson, Virginia Lloyd, Loretta McCloud, and Rebecca Marsalia serve the meals with the help of three special volunteers, Arthur Hampton, Doyle Halland and Larry Morgan.

So parents, rest assured that when you send your children to school there is a responsible staff to make sure that they are getting a hot nutritious meal.

Who's zat?

By SHANNON WESSELSKI

This little drum-beating Indian didn't fool many people. The only clue given was that she was a freshman. Those that were off beat were Cari Crane and Steven Polach who guessed Kim Marsalia. Andres Cruz and Jill Janish took a wild guess and said Shea McClanahan, while Jessica Whisman guessed Kim Henske. Will Adams and Lana Hutchison had no idea.

Donald Samora, Chris Burrow, Lina Rodriguez, and Scott Garrett all knew this little Indian's face belonged to Kelly Thomson. Other correct guessers were April McMillian, Stacey Spaniel, Kim Powers and Dawn Piccolini.

Kelly Thomson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thomson of Eagle Lake.

She is an active member of the Mighty Raider Band, Student Council and is secretary/treasurer of the freshman class.

Physical Activity Center gives more PE space

By PATRICIA LARES

This year at Rice High School, there is a new building on campus. The Physical Activity Center (PAC) is a "first class facility", as stated by Coach Mark Johnson.

Coach Johnson was interviewed and he had many positive thoughts about the center. He stated that both the PE students and athletes use the center, but also the old gym is used when the PAC center is occupied. The center allows different teams to work out at the same time.

With one gym, everyone was crowded with not much room for rehabilitation. With the new gym and the training room, there is more room for our hurt players to heal. For example, Coach Johnson purchased a pulsating machine which helps the players with pulled muscles and other injuries to heal faster.

They are also more comfortable because the training room is spacious enough for rubdowns. Coach Johnson responded to the question about how the PAC center has benefited the athletic program. He replied that it upgrades the locker room for the boys and allows the girl athletes to be separated from the PE girls.

He mentioned some disadvantages concerning the new PAC gym floor. The floor is fine for PE, but the volleyball games cannot compete on the floor in the old gym because of the rough surface. We intend to play all our volleyball games in the old gym because of its plentiful space and also because the new floor they are going to install in the old gym will allow all-purpose activities. We will be able to have band concerts, meetings, and pep rallies there without damaging the floor. In previous years we weren't allowed to wear shoes out on the gym floor for fear of damaging it. Coach Johnson was also asked if any sport had been played in the new gym, and he said that there have been a couple of volleyball games played.

The coach also commented that with this new center and repairs done to the old gym, plus the better housing facilities for other teams, there will be more playoff games held at Rice. The PAC center "blossoms" the school's looks and gives the teams encouragement to play better because of the attitude that is involved in making the Rice Raiders the BEST!
