JV win

stuck a paw out and stripped the ball from the running back.

At that point, with only one second left, there was time enough for one play for the Raider offense. What other play was there left to run but the double pass play that had been so successful in the past. Unfortunately, Godley's pass fell just short of Powers and the half ended and the score was tied.

The Raiders came out of half-time fired up and ready to go. They took the kick-off and on the second play from scrimmage, Rangel cut back against the grain on the option and raced for 46 yards.

Now it was Banks' turn to light things up. Behind a pancake block by Brent Schneider, Banks turned the corner and jigger-bugged to paydirt for six.

Ford missed the extra point and the Raiders took the lead 18-12.

Playing catch up football, Hal-letsville opened their bag of tricks on the next series.

For instance, they tried their own double pass, but it didn't foot Powers and Rangel because they were there to make the play. They tried the middle screen, but Ford sniffed they play out, stepped in front of the receiver, intercepted the ball, and rumbled 19 yards the other way on the return.

The Raider "D" was not done though. They still had to step up big later in the game.

The two teams satstashed back and forth and traded possessions, neither able to obtain any success on offense.

On what seemed to be the last possession for both teams, the Raiders controlled the line of scrimmage and ran the ball and the clock. Pipkens, Gohlke and Banks seemed unstoppable, until Pipkens was hit on the arm and the ball popped out, the Raiders looked to end the game with another TD. The Bulls fell on the ball and took

Once again the defense played like winners. They gave up some yards but didn't give the Brahmas six points.

It even came down to a fourth down play on the Raider 24 yard line. The defensive line put pressure on the quarterback, he rolled out, saw his man in the end zone and threw the rock. Godley was not out of position, made a move on the ball and knocked it down.

The Raiders took possession and ran the clock out. The fans sure got their money's worth with this ball game.

What an exciting ending to a stellar season for the Rice Raider JV football team. "I appreciate all the fan/parent support and can do nothing but be enthusiastic and excited about the future of Rice Raider football. Thanks again for following our games," stated JV football reporter Gus McCray.

WCJC students excel at S.F. Austin Rodeo

The Wharton County Junior College Pioneers brought home a number of individual wins following NIRA competition at Stephen F. Austin University in Nacogdoches, Oct. 27-29.

The Pioneers secured two individual first place finishes. WCJC's Jason Crawford, a freshman from Manvel, won first place overall in saddle bronc riding, while Pat Scott of Angleton
