Seaholm, Canaris to wed

Mr. and Mrs. Gus E. Seaholm of Eagle Lake announce the engagement and upcoming marriage of their daughter, Karl Renee, to Peter Daniel Canaris, son of Jeanette and Pete Canaris of Eagle Lake.

The bride-elect is a 1993 graduate of Rice High School and attended Wharton County Junior College. She is employed by Cincinnati Bell Information Systems and Stewart and Stevenson in Sealy.

The groom-to-be is a 1986 graduate of Rice High School and attended University of Houston. He is actively engaged in the family business, Canaris Nursery in Eagle Lake.

The couple plan to wed at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church in Eagle Lake on Feb. 18, 1995.

Conservation photos wanted for contest

A picture can be worth a thousand words, as well as prizes and a showing. The National Association of Conservation Districts is sponsoring their first photo contest this year.

Photos are wanted in six conservation categories by Dec. 1 deadline. The categories are:

•Conservation as photos of erosion, a polluted stream or wetland destruction;

•Conservation in action of volunteers cleaning a beachfront or planting trees, etc.;

•Education: students and conservation projects; learning or taking part in community service projects;

•Educating adults: showing workshops for local teachers on restoring wetlands or other conservation learning;

•Harmony and general nature, such as the beauty of your area or state;

•Urban nature such as a bird nest on a statue in a city square, an indoor garden or school's vegetable garden.

Prizes will be awarded and winning photos will be displayed at the annual meeting in New Orleans.

Any resident of the United States may enter. Photos may be black and white or color. Slides are also acceptable. Entries will become the property of the NACD to be used in their publications or promotions. Entrants are reminded to keep their negatives of extra prints of the entered photos.

All entries must be postmarked no later than Dec. 1, 1994, and each photo should be attached to a completed entry form and mailed to NACD, P.O. Box 855 or 408 East Main St., League City, TX 77574-0855.

For information about the photo contest and for entry forms, contact Clara Hornet at the Colorado SWCD, 316 Spring St. in Columbus or call 409-732-2773.

BRACES NOT JUST KID STUFF

It wasn't too long ago that everyone thought braces were only for children. However, today, there are more than 1 million people over 18 getting their teeth straightened.

Why would an adult get braces? Many adults are simply interested in improving their appearance. But, many people are starting orthodontic treatment for health reasons, too. Crooked, crowded teeth are harder to keep clean, so they're more susceptible to decay. Also, a bad bite can cause uneven stress on the teeth and jaws, leading to pain in the jaw joints, headaches, and tooth loss. The problems won't get better by themselves. If anything, they'll tend to get worse. So, it makes sense to correct them orthodontically.

As a matter of fact, the teeth and their supporting tissues are physiologically the same for both children and adults. Also, since patient cooperation is so important in orthodontics, treatment of adults can be remarkable successful.

Presented as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of JOHN B. MYRES, D.D.S., 704 S. McCarty Avenue, Eagle Lake, 234-3525.
