RESOUND AIDS TO BE FIT AT SOUTH TEXAS MEDICAL CLINIC

If you have been less than satisfied with your hearing aids, help is on the way.

The ReSound hearing aid features patented sound processing technology developed by AT&T Bell Laboratories.

With this technology, more amplification is provided as sounds become softer and less amplification is provided as sounds become louder.

This allows the individual to hear soft sounds while maintaining a comfortable level without adjusting the volume control. The ReSound aid can also be reprogrammed if your hearing changes. Therefore, if a new prescription is required, your existing ReSound hearing device can be reprogrammed.

See us in January for the latest in hearing aid technology.
