RAIDER REVIEW

Ag members compete

The Rice High School Ag class had 11 members compete at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. They came back with many awards and prizes for all their hard work and time each person contributed.

Texas assessment of academic skills

This has been a strenuous week for many students of Rice High School. TAAS testing has come and gone once again. The TAAS test consists of three major parts: reading, writing and math. All sophomores are required to take the test, as well as any junior or senior that has not yet passed any part of the test. All students who plan to graduate must pass every section of the test. Rice High School has been trying to improve TAAS scores by having after-school tutorials of which many students took advantage. Hopefully, everyone did their best and met the requirements needed to pass TAAS.

Meet the Lady Raider

The featured Lady Raider this week is Bridget Baird. She is a member of the varsity golf team. Bridget started playing when she was about 10 years old. This is her third year playing for Rice.

Shell Western E&P announces 1996 scholarships

Shell Western E&P Inc. will offer a $500 Scholarship to a graduating senior from Rice High School this year. The scholarship will be given to an outstanding senior who plans to attend a four-year college, two-year school or trade school with the intention of pursuing a petroleum-related curriculum, which may include environmental conservation or computer science. Graduating seniors interested in applying for these scholarships should contact the counselor's office for more detailed criteria and an application form. The high school scholarship committee will make its selection based on the candidate's academic achievements, participation in school and community activities and a written statement explaining why he or she would like to receive the scholarship. Sons and daughters of Shell Western employees are not eligible as Shell has a national scholarship program.

Who's Zat?

Can you place a name to this darling doll's face? The girl in the picture still has the same goofy grin. Surprisingly enough, her identity puzzled many. The only clue given was that she is currently enrolled as a junior at Rice High School. When asked to guess the baby's name, Audrey "Bub" Carter incorrectly guessed Carrie Engstrom. Kristen Sienke replied to the same question with the name Andrea Machac. Bridget Baird, Clint Gertson and Kurt Rodgers had absolutely no clue who this precious face belonged to. Only two people correctly guessed the identity of this young tot. Bryan Rees and Rachelle Kallina knew, without a doubt, that this baby had to be none other than Gina Sides. Gina is a varsity cheerleader and enjoys going out with her friends and having fun. Gina is the daughter of Louis and Glenna Sides of Altair.

Meet the Raider

This week's spotlight on Lance Grigar! He is a member of the varsity baseball team. Lance plays the position of center field and wears jersey #3. He feels that the team is much better than their record shows. When asked what his comments were toward the team, Lance replied, "We have lost quite a few one run games and when we get our players back that are flunking we should do very well." He feels that the coaches work very hard and know a lot about baseball. Lance, the son of Michael and Melody Grigar of Eagle Lake, participates in basketball, baseball, golf and powerlifting. He is also a member of student council, PALs program and is class reporter. Lance enjoys shooting pool, fishing and going out with friends.

One-act play 'on the road'

The Rice High School one-act play company traveled to Missouri City on Saturday, March 2, to get an expert's critique of their competition selection. The 3-day event held at Elkins High School included several area schools who received individual advice to improve on their performances. Aside from a few technical difficulties, the play went really well and received excellent reviews. With suggestions from the critic, the company will improve the rough spots. In preparation for the March 28 District competition, the Raider Players were to perform at the Rice Middle Schools during the week preceding the contest. Tuesday, March 19 they will be at Garwood at 1:30 p.m., on Wednesday, March 20, at Sheridan, 1:20 p.m., and Thursday, March 21, Eagle Lake Middle School at 9:55 a.m. The public is invited and encouraged to attend to view the progress of theater at Rice High School.

Ag members compete

The Commercial Steer division, Amy Obenhaus received $500 for "Rockie of the Year". Jenny Hajovsky won first place and was awarded a Dodge Pickup and $1,000. For fourth place, Clint Krenk was given a computer and $250. Other participants included Stephanie Thompson, Brooke Krenk, Michelle Spaniel, Kyle Krenk, Brent Schneider and Chad Fucik. Michelle Spaniel also entered the Beef Scramble and won fifth place. After building a 6-ball hay van, Brent Schneider, Michael Wise and Clint Krenk took home a blue ribbon in the Ag Mechanics Division. Brooke Krenk competed in the Calf Scramble, while Del Frmkia competed in the Swine Show. Everyone is to be congratulated for all their hard work and effort!

 Get the Most From Your Medicines
 People sometimes ask how they can get the most benefit from the medicines prescribed for them. Surprisingly, many do not know much about their medicines. And studies show that on the average, people forget about half of what they are told by their doctor by the time they arrive at the pharmacy. The key is to talk with your pharmacist and physician about all the medicines you are taking. When taken correctly, medicines can help prevent or cure diseases and return a person to work earlier. Here are a few useful medicine tips from NARD, a national professional association of retail or community pharmacists:
 ☐ Never take medicines that are prescribed for another person, even if your symptoms are similar.
 ☐ Carefully follow medicine label instructions and your pharmacist's instructions.
 ☐ Do not take more or less than the prescribed dosage without consulting with your physician or pharmacist.
 ☐ Throw away outdated medicines.
 ☐ If you are instructed to finish all of the medicine, don't stop taking it just because your symptoms have disappeared.
 ☐ If it is hard to remember to take your medicine, ask your pharmacist for help.

Views On Dental Health
 IS YOUR CAP SHOWING?
 Maybe you've heard someone say, "I can always tell when someone has a capped tooth." Not with today's dental techniques. A tooth that has been properly capped or crowned shouldn't show at all.
 Even if you choose to have gold crowns made for front or back teeth, they can be covered with porcelain or some other material made to match the color of your natural teeth. Oftentimes patients will select a gold crown for one of their back teeth and leave it just as is. Your back teeth are not very noticeable. In normal conversation or even when you smile, it would be unusual for you to open your mouth wide enough for your back teeth to show.
 Properly fitted and contoured to follow the shape of natural teeth, capped or crowned teeth encased in a natural color are almost impossible to detect. However, they do have to be guarded against decay, just as your other teeth do.
 With good oral hygiene at home and regular dental checkups, you should never have to worry about your cap showing.
 Presented as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of JOHN B. MYRES, D.D.S., 704 S. McCarty Avenue, Eagle Lake, 234-3525.
