Wood leaving for European sports tour

Britni Wood, Miss Eagle Lake, leaves June 29, along with 25 other students from the U.S., for an International Sports Tour. She leaves Houston Sunday bound for Copenhagen, Denmark.

The group will spend each morning touring the area and going out every evening from 3 to 6 p.m. in preparation for the track meet which will be run in Gottenberg, Sweden, July 5-6.

Britni will be running the 100 meter and 300 meter hurdles and competing in the high jump.

The group will return to the States July 10.

According to Britni, rosters were sent to all those going on the tour that listed times and heights of all the track participants.

"I have the best time on the tour, so I'm excited," stated Britni.

Wood is one of two students from Texas invited on the tour.

Britni is the daughter of Jim and Mary Ann Wood of Eagle Lake and will be a senior at Columbus High School this fall.

EPA Grants Texas Section 18 Approval for New Rice Fungicide

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) recently granted Zeneca Ag Products' new fungicide, QUADRIS™ flowable, a Section 18 emergency exemption approval for use on rice in Texas during the 1997 growing season.

This new fungicide should make a significant contribution to rice disease management programs. During the past five years, Zeneca and University field trials have repeatedly demonstrated that Quadris has a spectrum of control and a level of efficacy unequaled by any other fungicide on the market today.

The active ingredient in Quadris, azoxystrobin, was derived from naturally occurring fungicides, called strobilurins, found in certain species of wood-decaying mushrooms. Quadris has a novel mode of action and is highly effective against sheath blight and panicle blast on rice.

With the Section 18 approval, rice growers in Texas can use Quadris for control of sheath blight and panicle blast. For sheath blight control, apply Quadris prior to or in the early stages of disease development at a rate of 12.3 to 18.5 ounces per acre. For ease of application, about 1 gallon to 10.4 treated acres.

For optimum control of panicle blast, Quadris should be used as a preventative treatment prior to disease development. Apply 12.3 to 18.5 ounces of Quadris per acre at mid-boot to boot split but prior to full head emergence. A second application of 12.3 to 18.5 ounces should be applied when panicles are about 60 to 90 percent emerged from the boot.

For more information about Quadris, contact your local ag chem dealer. Quadris is available at many retailers in Colorado County. Please call 1-800-759-2500 for the location of those retailers near you.

Foot Facts

By Dr. Eric R. Tepper, Podiatrist

THE HIGHS AND LOWS OF ARCH PAIN

Moderation is the key word when it comes to healthy arches. Too much of an arch, and the feet are likely to ache with heel and/or arch pain. Calluses often form, as well, due to the problem of wearing shoes that just can't measure up to the soaring soles. Too little of an arch — or "flat feet" — can make every step an uncomfortable experience as abnormal pressure presses on the foot. The pain of high or low arches isn't the only concern, either. Left untreated, both conditions can lead to such serious problems as bunions, hammertoes, and heel spurs. Fortunately, prescription orthotics (shoe inserts) are among the options that can correct arch abnormalities, preventing such complications.

Untreated foot problems can be more than just a momentary nuisance. They can develop into complicated conditions with serious consequences, so be sure to treat your feet to specialized care. Whether your feet suffer from abnormal arches, skin or nail conditions, or injury and trauma, you'll find we are as concerned as you are about the health of your feet. For an appointment for full-service foot care, please call 234-5571, at Rice Medical Center. I am there every Tuesday.

P.S. Abnormally high or low arches that don't hurt can still lead to serious future foot problems. Talk to your podiatrist.
