Area to receive millions from tobacco settlement

State Representative Robby Cook, D-Eagle Lake, announced Monday, July 20, that counties and hospital districts within House District 28 will receive millions of dollars from a tobacco agreement reached over the weekend.

Legislative leaders have been working with counties and hospital districts for several months to find a fair and equitable way to distribute part of Texas' multibillion-dollar settlement to those entities.

Under the agreement, the entity receiving the payment may be the county, hospital district and/or other political subdivision depending on which entity has the legal responsibility for providing indigent health care.

Preliminary figures indicate that in Jan. 1999, an estimated $675,766 will be distributed within Bastrop County; $324,664 in Colorado County; $354,899 in Fayette County; and $705,648 in Wharton County.

This money will come from an initial lump sum payment of $300 million that will be distributed on a per capita basis by the Comptroller of Public Accounts.

In addition to the initial lump sum payment, a Permanent Trust Account will be established and funded over a four-year period in the amount of approximately $1.8 billion.

The income from the permanent fund will be distributed to the counties and hospital districts on a pro rata basis in proportion to their amount of unreimbursed health care expenditures for indigent health care.

"I am pleased that a settlement has finally been reached. The agreement will provide much needed funds to help counties and hospital districts defray some of the costs associated with indigent health care," commented Representative Cook.

Legislative leaders met Saturday, July 18, with the counsel for the counties and hospital districts that intervened in the tobacco settlement and Judge Jim Meyers, a court-appointed mediator. As a result of that meeting, an agreement was reached.

It includes the stipulation that the motion for sanctions against the government and several legislators must be withdrawn before this agreement is finalized.

Cooper named 'Teacher of the Year'

Michael Copper, a teacher at Lamar Consolidated and Mayor of Eagle Lake, slipped into a blue vest recently. It wasn't to accept a summer job at Wal-Mart, but to receive the 1998 Wal-Mart Teacher of the Year Award for excellence in teaching from an associate at the Wal-Mart store in Richmond.

In appreciation of Cooper's dedication, Wal-Mart presented a $500 grant to the school and a special rendition of the Wal-Mart vest to Cooper as a badge of honor for the Richmond area Teacher of the Year.

Cooper was one of more than 1,700 teachers from around the country who were selected to receive the 1998 award.

The winners received a combined total of $850,000 in grants for their schools or school districts.

"Wal-Mart believes a good education is an essential foundation for productive citizens and a vital community," said David Glass, president and chief executive officer of Wal-

Mart Stores Inc.

"Awarding the $500 grant and vest is our way of showing our appreciation to the outstanding teachers who dedicate themselves to helping students achieve a superior education."

The Wal-Mart/SAM's Club Teacher of the Year program honors teachers in Wal-Mart and SAM's Club communities who distinguish themselves as mentors, motivators and innovators in education.

Since the program began in 1996, Wal-Mart and SAM's Club have saluted more than 4,600 Teachers of the Year, contributing more than $2.1 million in education grants to local schools.

Wal-Mart supports dozens of initiatives to increase educational opportunities for students, teachers and associates, including scholarships, internships, school-to-career programs, work-based education programs, support for the United Negro College Fund and other educational programs.
