Rainbow

The "Rainbow Room" supplies have been provided by donations from county groups and by financial contributions from the CCCPS Board. The Board is funded entirely by donations from the residents of Colorado County. The Board needs either your financial contributions or your contribution of needed items from the list below.

It is good to point out that there is no overhead, 100% of every dollar given goes directly to children and families in need.

The Colorado County "Rainbow Room" is located in the Texas Department of Regulatory and Protective Services Building, 1460 Walnut in Columbus. The room, which has been provided at no cost, allows caseworkers to have access to the many resources they need in crisis situations.

If anyone would like to support this effort, you can send a check to the CCCPS Board (make a notation: "Rainbow Room") or you can donate (take the items by the 1460 Walnut address) any of the much needed items on the following list: diapers, diaper ointment, baby formula, jars of baby food, infant cereal, towels and wash cloths, new clothing (used clothing can't be utilized), underwear, shoes, coats, jeans, shirts, deodorant, school supplies, canned food, educational toys for children of all ages, books, puzzles, dental hygiene items, regular shampoo, shampoo for lice.

CCCPS Board members are Rev. Skip Sircin, Weimar; Mary Jones, New Bielau; Lucille Perry, Lissie; Rev. Obie Rhodes, Eagle Lake; Rev. Walter Glasscock, Columbus; Loretta McCloud, Sheridan; Lovie Girndt, Columbus; and Judy Hill, Sheridan.

If you would like more information, please call the Texas Department of Regulatory and Protective Services at 409-732-5879, ext. 234, and ask for Linda Radke. (Fayette County also has a "Rainbow Room" that is located in La Grange).

Kudos for Judge Slominski

Some people are born as natural leaders; some learn how to be leaders. County Judge Vince Slominski is both.

He has provided leadership and vision, managed the affairs of the County Commissioners' Court, performed the judicial duties of the County's Probate and Juvenile Courts and represented the County at the local, regional and state levels.

One of the added responsibilities of the office of county judge is that of Chief Executive Officer and President of the Colorado County Economic Development Organization Inc. (CCEDO).

In this capacity, as well as many others, Slominski excelled.

He worked closely with the daily operations of the multifaceted economic development programs to augment the ability of local businesses to remain competitive, expand the job base and improve the tax base.

He researched, advised, wrote, called, visited and constructed complex partnerships with private, public, and non-profit organizations while advocating economic development for the county.

Slominski moved swiftly to facilitate the relocations of new industries into the County.

On a regional scale, Slominski worked with multi-county issues, tourism initiatives and studies to identify alternative agri-businesses for area ranchers and farmers.

Thank you, Judge Slominski, for your dedication and hard work.

This community will enjoy the benefits of your work for years to come, as projects you fostered come to fruition.

Weimar will surely prosper as you move into the management of the municipal government there in the coming months.

As you leave, know that you have had a positive impact on Colorado County.
