The 5th annual Colorado County Fair Rodeo and Bull and Barrel Bash promises to be bigger and better than last year! Rodeo action will begin Wednesday night with an invitational team roping.

Danger! Excitement! Action! This is the theme of Thursday evening at the Fair. A 40-head jackpot bull buckout will pit man against beast in what the Sports-writers of America have voted as the most dangerous sport! A girls' open barrel racing will complete the evening's events.

Fast paced action continues on Friday and Saturday evenings with two full days of the true American sport - RODEO! Rodeo productions are made possible by Rafter "D" Rodeo Company of Fulshear, Texas. Smokey Davis and his wife Betty are part of a four generation rodeo family that provide stock and produce rodeo entertainment all over South Central Texas.

This year's rodeo will be sanctioned by the Cowboy's Professional Rodeo Association or CPRA. The CPRA is the largest pro rodeo association in Texas. CPRA cowboys will be working toward building their points for the finals to be held in November at the Great South-west Equestrian Center in Katy, Texas.

Sanctioned rodeo events will include some of professional rodeo's wildest, most unpredictable action in the bareback bronc riding. In this event, the cowboy tries to stay aboard a jumping, bucking, twisting horse while holding onto only a leather strap about the size of a suitcase handle. Saddle bronc riding, pro rodeo's "classic" event will set cowboy against bucking horse. The most popular event with spectators in pro rodeo, bull riding, will match top cowboys against Rafter "D" bucking bulls.

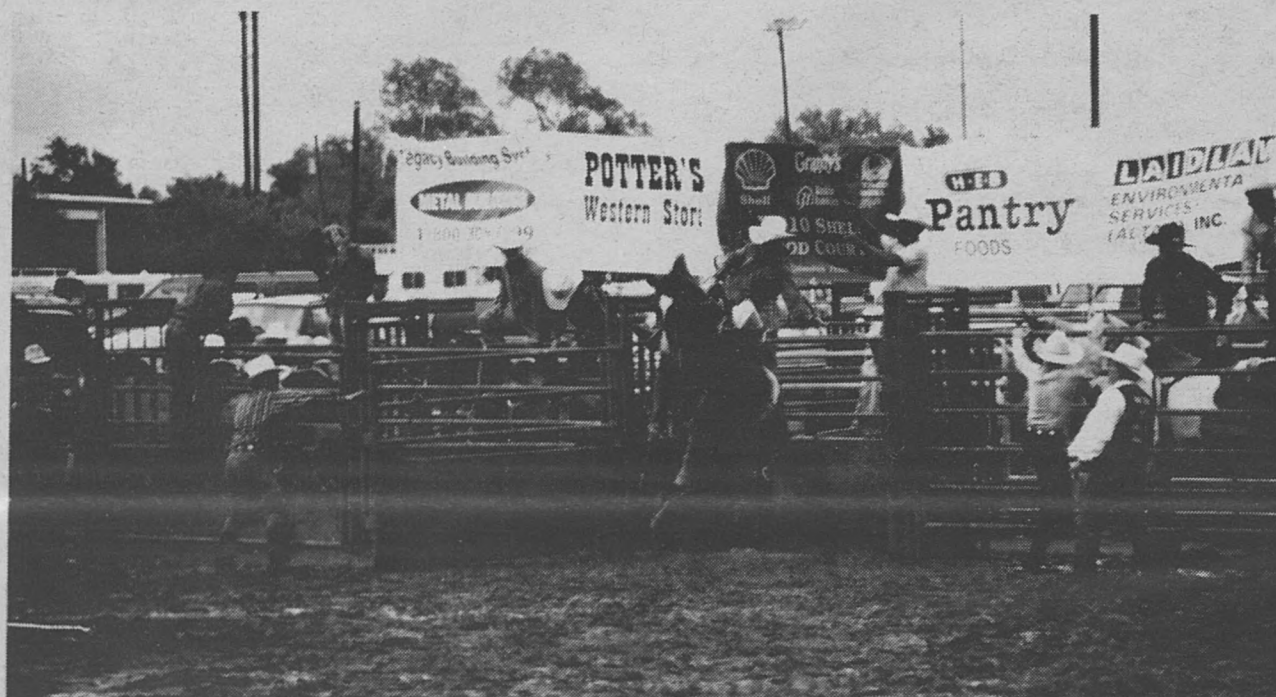

In the timed events steer wrestling or "bulldogging" calls on a cowboy's muscle, courage and determination to jump from the back of a running horse onto the back of a steer that weighs from 500 to 700 pounds, then wrestle the steer to the ground as quickly as possible. In team roping, two ropers work together against the clock to "head" and "heel" a steer. Another timed event is calf roping which was also adapted from regular ranch work. Barrel racing and breakaway calf roping for women will round out the list of rodeo events.

Books open for rodeo contestants on September 11th from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Call-in for rough stock events will be 888-551-2203. Call-in for timed events will be to 888-912-3440. Call-back will be to 888-551-2203. Entry fees are $50 per contestant.

To enter the Bull and Barrel Bash contact Rafter "D" Rodeo at 281-346-1078 from 12:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Entry fees are $50 per contestant.

Proceeds from this year's rodeo events will work to enhance Fair scholarships with high expectations of bigger and better productions in the future.

Fair board director Mark Robinson is responsible for the planning and promotion of this year's new innovations at the arena. He, along with his active committee, work year around to make the arena events a success. Committee members include Bob Kent, Rodeo Committee Chairman, Mark Robinson, Sandra Robinson,

Fair Director Steven Meinecke snapped this saddle bronc rider coming out of the chutes at the 1998 rodeo. The 2000 Fair will again feature a full-fledged CPRA rodeo on Friday and Saturday evenings, beginning at 7:30 p.m.
