'Gun Safe' education important

Texas hunters: What's the first thing you do when you get home from a long day's hunt?

Hint: Don't forget to unload and lock up your guns.

With Texas' various fall hunting seasons either already under way or approaching opening day, hunters are moving gear in and out of their homes with increasing frequency.

This means some Texas children may have greater access to sporting firearms, which could lead to tragic accidents.

"Gun Safe" and its secure storage standards are approved by Texas Parks & Wildlife, a member of the Texas Firearm Safety Coalition. Gun Safe is a program coordinated by the Texas Nurses Foundation for the children of Texas.
