Sympathy is extended to the family in their loss.

There is a place where one can go where freedom can be found, where life's pressures are no more where peace and rest abound.

The place I speak of cannot be seen nor with our hands can feel, but like the winds which stir the air its presence just as real.

Search as you may from place to place in hopes that you will find, and when you've tired from looking search deep heart, soul and mind.

For there exist between God and man a realm immune to sight, placed there by God Himself for all who seek His light.

GETTING READY FOR DENTURES
You may not like to think about it, but if most of the teeth in your mouth have been lost or are in a poor condition, you are a candidate for dentures. Whether you need partial or full dentures, your dentist will want to examine your mouth thoroughly, both visually and with X-rays. He or she will be looking for such problems as cysts, tumors, inflammation, and bone loss. Your dentist will also be checking for teeth that never erupted, impacted wisdom teeth, and distorted positions of the jaw.
All of this will be done to help prevent problems that might develop with your dentures. You'll want the best possible fit, and your dentist will also want to make sure your mouth and gums are as healthy as possible. If some of your teeth can be saved, they may be able to serve as anchors for partial dentures.
With complete dentures, you will need to rely on the muscles of your cheeks and tongue as well as healthy gums to keep them in place.
Presented as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of JOHN B. MYRES, D.D.S., 700 S. McCarty Avenue, Eagle Lake, 234-3525.
