teous manner? You know, that one really bothers me... especially the term "routinely". I have the utmost respect for every individual. I do admit that there have been rare occasions when I have been impatient and abrupt but never has any of this been personally directed.

"On the same subject, why do many people come away from a hearing feeling that they have been treated with arrogance and disrespect? Well, I guess that I should be pleased that it is only "many" and not half of them.

Remember, almost every hearing has one party not pleased with the ruling.

In spite of all the recent negative campaigning, I have not been able to find substance to any of the allegations that would lead me to believe that Judge Jamison's actions while in office have been self-serving. I feel that he has fulfilled most of the promises that were within his power and his business sense decisions have definitely benefited most of the citizens of our county.

Study Club extends thanks

The response of the Eagle Lake area to our 23rd Annual Auction and Bake Sale Saturday, Oct. 26, was overwhelming!

The large attendance at the Community Center was visible evidence of the support and of the desire to contribute to both the Eula & David Wintermann Library and to the Eagle Lake Volunteer Fire Department.

To all who participated in any way, we wish to extend our most sincere thanks.

Donations are still being accepted at the library and will be most appreciated.

Since our esteemed auctioneer, Joe H. McCreary, was out of state, we were very fortunate to have Mr. Lex Forgeron from Hungerford conducting the Main Auction, he did a superb job and made the evening most enjoyable!

To the staff of the Eagle Lake Headlight, we express our sincere gratitude for your continued assistance, generous coverage and never failing support. Many thanks, Jeanine and Carol!

Sincerely,
The Eagle Lake Study Club
