Blasmusik Concert Set For Saturday In La Grange

Blasmusik Texas will perform at the Sanford Schmid Amphitheater on November 4 for an hour and a half concert starting at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend this special treat at the open-air amphitheater of the Texas Czech Heritage and Cultural Center in La Grange.

Blasmusik Texas, the Texas All-State German Band, is a volunteer band comprised of professional and accomplished amateur musicians from throughout the state of Texas. The band repertoire is music of central Europe, consisting primarily of German, Czech, Alsatian, and Austrian polkas, waltzes, marches and Volksmusik. The 45-piece European instrumentation band meets several weekends a year to rehearse and perform for German Texas Fests and similar events. Blasmusik Texas toured Europe in 1994 and in 1999, and has produced several recordings.

The band was formed in July, 1993, in Fredericksburg for the primary purpose of representing Texas at the Blasmusik festival (wind band festival) in Germany in 1994.
"The primary objective of the band is to bring together outstanding musicians for friendship and to perform the unique German-style band music for the enjoyment of musicians and audiences", said Duwain Pingnot, President.

SECOND IN A SERIES OF REPORTS ON THE LCRA-SAWS WATER PROJECT

Will We Have Enough Water in the Future?

The answer is no, unless we plan for the future, says the Lower Colorado Regional Water Planning Group, called Region K. Region K is one of 16 regional planning groups in Texas that identify future water shortages and strategies to meet them.

Region K's largest source of water is the lower Colorado River, including the Highland Lakes. LCRA manages the lakes and river from San Saba County to Matagorda Bay and is a member of the Region K planning group.

The Region K planning group says we won't have enough water to meet all needs in the future. Consider these facts:

- Region K's population will double. ¹ Most of the growth will be in Austin and surrounding counties.
- Cities and industries in Region K will need twice as much water. ²
- Far less water from the Highland Lakes will be available for irrigated agriculture, especially rice farms. ³

Why is this a problem? As growing urban cities and rural communities need more water, less will be available for other uses.

- Less water for rice farmers could devastate the industry, which supports 4,000 jobs and contributes $234 million annually to the region's economy. ⁴
- As municipal demands grow, less water will flow into Matagorda Bay. Fishing and tourism industries could be harmed if the flow of water to the bay or estuaries significantly declines over time.

- Average lake levels will be lower in lakes Buchanan and Travis. Lake-related recreation that draws millions of dollars to the basin each year could be affected.

The Lower Colorado Regional Water Planning Group has 22 voting members and 4 nonvoting members. Visit www.regionk.org for more information.

This series of reports provides the facts about the LCRA-SAWS Water Project, a proposed long-term water supply project to meet future water shortages in the lower Colorado River basin and some shortages in the San Antonio area. The Lower Colorado River Authority and the San Antonio Water System are conducting a six-year in-depth study of the project's technical, financial and environmental effects to determine if the project should proceed.
