CANCER - June 22/July 22

It's OK if you let someone else see your vulnerable side this week, Cancer. It won't make you less of a person, but rather will shed new light on what makes you you.

LEO - July 23/Aug 23

You need some solitude this week, Leo, to work things out. Crowds will make you jumpy and less likely to be able to think about plans successfully.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22

There's someone who is asking for your help, but you're not sure if you want to offer assistance, Virgo. Follow your intuition and let this person work things out alone.

Protect Pets This Holiday

With the holiday season in full gear, our homes can get filled with decorations and foods that pose potential dangers to pets.

While many pets are curious about the gifts, trimmings, sweet treats and trees, these seasonal goodies can threaten the safety, and possibly life, of these furry family friends.

"Holiday plants, especially mistletoe berries, can be most harmful," said Todd Tams, Vice President and Chief Medical Officer for VCA Animal Hospitals, the largest network of free-standing animal hospitals in the U.S. "Ingested pine needles can puncture your pet's intestines, and juice or leaves from poinsettia, mistletoe, holly, and Christmas greens are toxic enough to cause severe intestinal damage, and possibly the death of your pet. If your pet is exhibiting some unusual symptoms, and you suspect that they may have ingested parts of a plant, the best course of action is to take them immediately to your local veterinarian for prompt care."

Even the smallest amounts of holiday chocolate, depending on the size of an animal, can be extremely harmful. Other foods, such as ham, steak and poultry bones, should not be offered and kept out of reach.

Human food is too rich for most pets and can cause intestinal disease as well as perforations and obstructions to the stomach. Additionally, other fatty foods we as humans lavishly enjoy during the holidays can cause vomiting and diarrhea.

Poultry bones and carcass can splinter easily, if chewed or swallowed, causing serious damage to internal organs.

Pets are often inquisitive about items found on Christmas trees. Breakable tree ornaments, angel hair, tinsel, ribbon, hooks, rubber bands and strings of lights are especially dangerous.

If ingested and swallowed, these holiday staples can lead to obstruction in the gastrointestinal tract and either endoscopy or surgery may be required to remove obstructing objects.

HOW DOES CONSCIOUS SEDATION WORK

You arrive at our office one hour before your appointment and take a small pill. A companion must accompany you to the office and also escort you after your appointment. In a short time, you will be very drowsy.

You relax through your dental appointment. When you arrive at our office, you will be escorted into the comfort room and covered with a thick, warm blanket and placed on a monitor to watch your vital signs. After you are comfortable, Dr. Zboril and the experienced clinical team will take care of your dental needs.

You will feel no pain during your treatment. You will be in a deeply relaxed state, but you will be responsive. The clinical team is always with you and your vital signs are monitored during the entire visit.

When your treatment is completed, your companion will return you home to finish your comfortable, relaxing day. You will relax for up to five or six hours after taking the pill. The time you spend relaxing will vary depending on your medical treatment.

You will have little or no memory of the experience. You probably won't even remember any sounds or smells.
