Stafford Opera To Present 'Suburb: The Musical'

Susan Mele, Artistic Director of Art Park Players, stars as Rhoda, the chain-smoking realtor, a perpetual divorcee determined to sell Alison and Stuart their dream house in the upcoming production of Suburb: The Musical at the Stafford Opera House; and Rusty Groos stars as Tom, a widower and avid do-it-yourselfer who in the face of retirement has reluctantly put his home of 40 years up for sale.

On Saturday, March 10 Art Park Players will bring to the opera house stage this insightful, witty, and nuanced view of the world of the lawn mower, the barbecue, and the mall, exploring the suburb's rites and rituals with an eight-person chorus and four main characters.

Alison, played by long-time Art Park Player Angela Hysler, is a pregnant young professional determined to avoid moving back to the suburbs while Joshua Estrada will portray the role of Stuart, Alison's husband, who finds himself suddenly seized by an overwhelming desire to go suburban.

The stories of these four people - interwoven with the chorus' frequent musical reveries on subjects like mowing the lawn, the mall, and the perfection of perfectly grilled meat - form the road map of Suburb.

The chorus has been hand-picked by director, Fred White, and features the talents of Art Park Player actors Terri Edwards, Stacey Holimon, David Heyen, Suzanne Fitzsimmons and Ed Fitzsimmons and also includes Wally Whitley who starred in last year's production of I Love You, You're Perfect, Now Change, Kim Martin who is the Artistic Director of Baytown Little Theatre and Judy Alhorn who has appeared in several theatres through out the Houston area.

Get your tickets now to enjoy an evening of music and comedy at the Stafford Opera House, 425 Spring Street in Columbus, on Saturday, March 10. Social Hour is at 5:30 p.m. Dinner is served at 6:30 and the curtain opens at 7:30. Call 979-732-5135 for tickets or information.

SENIOR CHALLENGES
A common problem among seniors periodontal disease has been linked to several major health concerns, such as diabetes, stroke, respiratory ailments and heart disease.
In addition, infection from the mouth can travel to other parts of the body, jeopardizing a senior's overall health.
Medications such as antihistamines, diuretics, analgesics, high blood pressure medication and antidepressants can cause dry mouth (xerostomia), leaving the patient without enough saliva to wash away food and neutralize plaque. Those who experience dry mouth are more susceptible to tooth decay and periodontal disease. It can also cause sore throat, problems with speaking, difficulty swallowing and hoarseness.
See your dentist if you have any concerns about periodontal disease or dry mouth.
