LCRA Wells Questioned

number of wells.”
Cullick also said the region has thousands of wells and yet there is less demand for groundwater now than there was 10 years ago in the region.

“Focusing on the number of wells is a great way to work people up, but it provides no new information,” he added.

“We are in the middle of the seven-year study period and we do not know yet how many wells might be part of the final study recommendation. LCRA will work with local groundwater conservation districts in developing a plan for groundwater.”

Jurek also questioned when the LCRA will have another project update, noting one that had been set for April was canceled.

“As for project update meetings, LCRA anticipates that the many studies under way will begin to bring in important new information this summer and LCRA will hold an update session at an appropriate time later this year,” Cullick said.

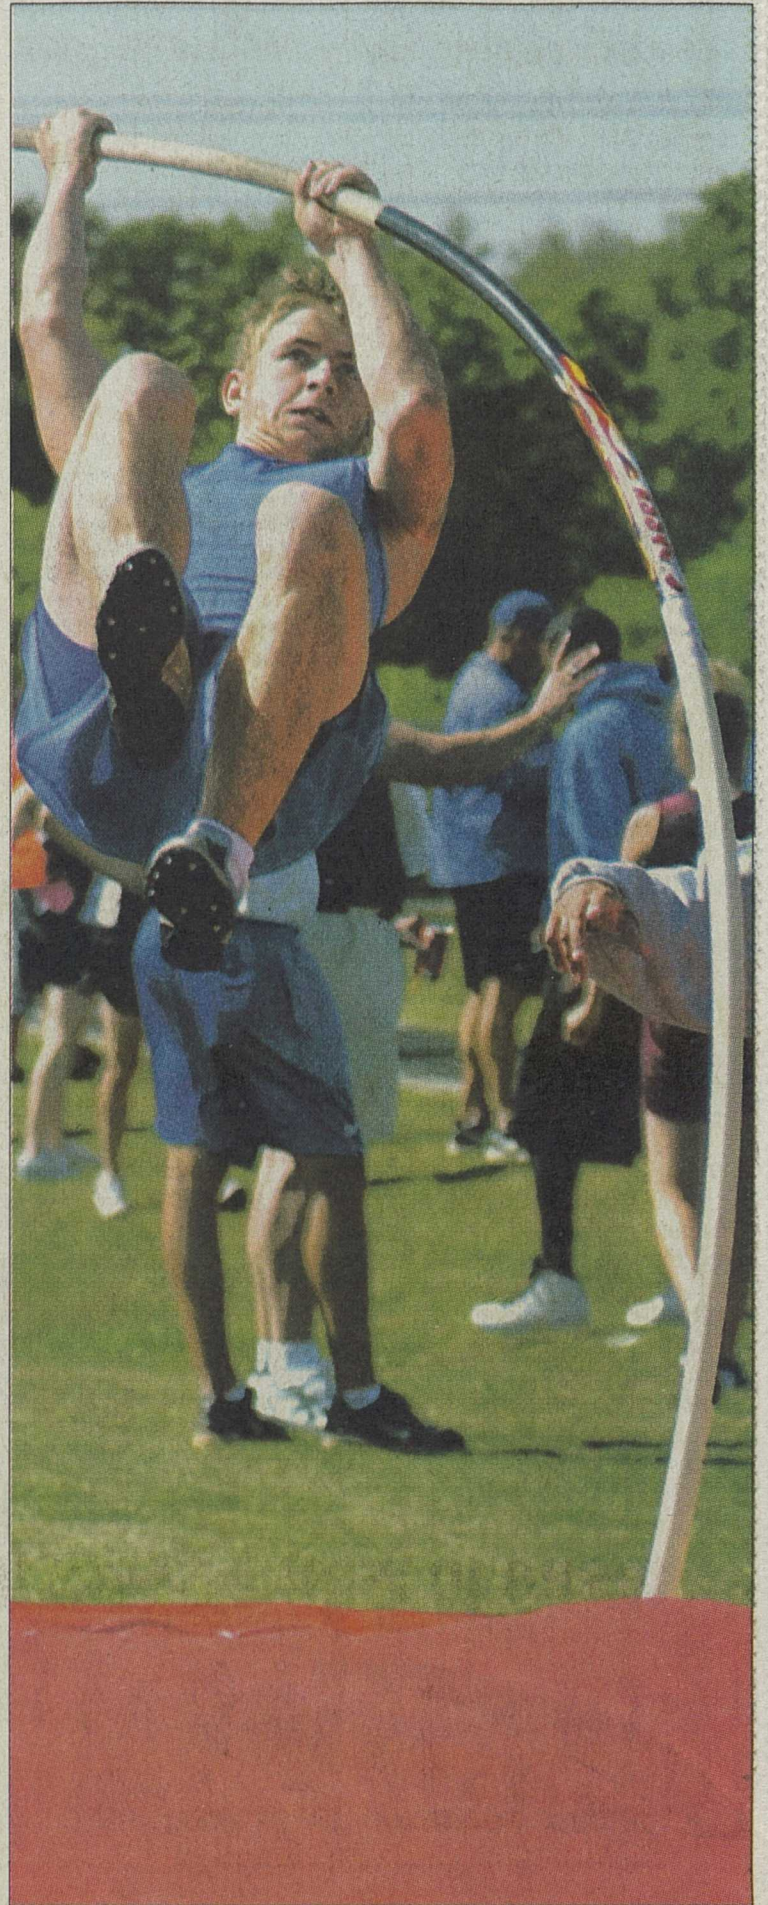

“Much information is posted on the website and citizens can call Leah Manning, program manager at (512) 473-3589,” he said.

LaQuendra Thomas won the District Title in discus and came in second in the shot put. Her discus distance was 114 feet 11 inches.
