Letter To The Editor

Reader Gives Bond Issue Opinion

Consolidate-means to make solid; to combine into one; merge; unite; to make or become solid, strong, or stable.

Rice Consolidated School District, not Rice School Districts.

It's time for the parents of this school district to stand up for our kids. Especially the parents of kids in Eagle Lake with children in Eagle Lake Primary School and Eagle Lake Junior High School systems.

When you pass by the current ELPS, at first glance it looks as if there's nothing wrong. Go inside and see how quickly this will change.

Did you know:

-About the Skunks that live under the building?

-The weak floors throughout most of the building?

-The hole in the restrooms that was featured in the Headlight earlier this year?

-The plumbing problems including sewage backups?

The temporary building that shares common walls and are a constant distraction for teachers and students?

-Foundation problems and heating and cooling problems?

I'm sure this is not all, but its enough! And this is not a band-aid issue. Do not take my word for it, go inside and see for yourself before the election on May 12, 2007.

Not only are the kids enduring these issues, the teachers and the staff are as well, and I applaud them for this. They all deserve a safer, cleaner environment.

Under one structure all kids benefit. There would be enough qualified and certified teachers on one campus that would prepare our kids not for just TAKS testing, but the education and skills for college.

There would be a real honors program at the Jr. High level starting at the sixth grade level. Our kids will develop together in sports and band which will benefit the athletic and music departments.

School spirit would unite them as one; working together is what will consolidate Rice.

On May 12, 2007 vote for this bond if you want a change for the better.

We can't take the chance of losing great educators for our kids because the conditions become unbearable to deal with. We must support them as well. It's sad to say in too many cases our educators do not see the parent unless there is a problem! I'm letting you know, Eagle Lake, there is a serious problem and our kids are suffering. Be a part of the solution, not the problem. Exercise your right to vote.

I'm a concerned parent and this is the way I see it. I hope a lot of other parents do as well. No matter your opinion, please vote in all elections on May 12, 2007.

Sincerely,
Sandra Flowers, Eagle Lake
