Steroids Given Early for Bell's Palsy

Bell's palsy, weakness or paralysis of muscles on one side of the face caused by damage to a facial nerve, ranges from mild weakness to total paralysis on one side of the face. Symptoms of Bell's palsy include headache, ear pain, sudden weakness on one side of the face, and possible loss of taste in the front of the tongue. This condition may occur at any age, although occurs more often in pregnant women, persons with diabetes, persons with compromised immune systems, and in persons with the flu or a cold. Bell's palsy resolves on its own within several weeks or months in most persons. Although the exact cause of this condition is unknown, it is thought that an infection caused by the herpes simplex virus, results in swelling and injury of the facial nerve, which leads to weakness or paralysis of facial muscles.

Although it is not known whether treatment will affect the outcome of Bell's palsy, as this condition typically resolves without treatment, there are medications that may be prescribed. Steroids, such as prednisone, may be prescribed within the first few days of symptoms to reduce inflammation and swelling. Acyclovir (Zovirax) and famciclovir (Famvir) are antivirals that are sometimes prescribed to help reduce damage to the facial nerve. Facial massages also may be prescribed.

The Class of 1957 has been participating in the all-inclusive ELHS Reunions of the 1995, 2000 and 2005, but thought it would be a good idea to get together as a group for this special reunion.

Class members are Judy Black TenNaple, Elvira Salazar Barela, Joyce Matthews Stancik, Dorothy Matzke Jones, Tommy Lou Reese Herman,

Janice Selph Miller, Patricia Sheppard Seaholm, Judy Simmons Fikes, Ruth Ann Tate Marshall, Joe Barela,

Homes Tour, Dinner Theatre May 19

The beautiful Magnolia Belles will be presented at the Stafford Opera House, 425 Spring Street in Columbus on Friday evening, May 18; on the south side of the Courthouse square on Saturday, May 19 at 12 noon; and at the historical homes on Saturday afternoon from 1:00-4:00.

The Belles will adorn the porches and lawns of the Tate-Sentenberg Brandon House, Dilue Rose-Harris House, Alley Log Cabin & Antique Tool Museum and the Santa Claus Museum during the Saturday afternoon homes tour. There is a $3 entrance fee to each home.

On Friday night the Columbus High School Steel Pan Band begins playing at 7, the presentation begins at 7:30, and afterwards is a reception for the girls and their families.

The Columbus Historical Presentation Trust sponsors the presentation of the Belles.

Also enjoy Saturday evening May 19 at the Stafford Opera House dinner theatre production "Art", with family and friends. This comedic play raises the question, "which is more important to you: your taste in art or your friendships?"

Serge, Marc and Yvan, three old friends, are thrown into a friendship dilemma when Serge purchases a white-on-white abstract painting for a huge amount of money.

Marc hates it and cannot believe that a friend of his could possibly want such a work and Ivan attempts to placate both sides.

Enjoy all of the festivities of the Texas Live Oak Festival and make this dinner theatre a part of your activities during the weekend.

Social time begins at 5. Dinner will be served at 6 and the curtain opens at 6:45. For tickets or information about any of these events listed call 979-732-5135.
