We have lost a really down to earth guy. As I go through life there is very little time to get to know someone.
 He always told me his master the Lord was a fisherman so he was following in his steps. Even now when we go fishing, I always hear from my son, we need a 10 ft. net like Bigfoot had to catch something good.
 Having to deploy overseas sometimes I could always rest assured he would watch my family. If Joy's car broke, he was right there. Very few people in this life can be trusted: he was one. He often told me we have two of the best women ever. The mold was broken after these two. He always said we were blessed.
 Sonny was a preacher who got the message over in a very down to earth manner.
 We spread Jim High ashes at his favorite fishing hole and said some good words. I don't know many preachers that would go out in the snake infested swamp and varmints.
 I hope to meet him at the fishing pond in the sky with that 10 ft. net so we can catch something good. Or maybe the Lord will need a good crew chief on his old Phantom jet.
Rest in peace but remember it ain't over when we leave here. My family and I will always remember Bigfoot Sonny Wauls. God Bless You, MSGT. Ron Peroni USAFR and Family

Boyce E. Fore

After a recent illness, Boyce E. Fore passed on from this life to spend eternity with Jesus on June 2.
 Boyce was born in Linden, Texas to Jim and Pauline Kirkland Fore, January 17, 1937.
 He accepted Christ as his personal Savior at an early age. He married his wife, Dolores Sullivan Fore on August 10, 1957. Patsy Scott Stapleton

Patsy Scott Stapleton, 72, of Sealy, passed away on Friday, May 18 at Gulf Coast Medical Center in Wharton after a lengthy illness.

Patsy was born on April 14, 1935 to T.W. and Jimmie B Lowrie Scott.

Patsy spent a large part of her life in Eagle Lake, and it was there she met and married the love of her life, William Lee Stapleton.

While raising their family, work allowed them to travel and live in other countries.

Later, Patsy and Billy returned to Eagle Lake, where she enjoyed volunteering at the hospital in Eagle Lake and served as President of the Pink Ladies for three years.

Patsy was also a member of First Baptist Church of Eagle Lake.

Patsy is survived by her loving husband of 51 years, William Lee Stapleton; daughters and husbands, Cindy and Rickey Broussard, Sharon and Charlie Badeaux and Kathy and David Parchman; eight granddaughters; two grandsons; three great-granddaughters; and niece, Lisa Colgin.

The family would like to express their appreciation to all the people who so lovingly helped Patsy during her illness and final stay in the hospital: Dr. Thomas Winston of Wharton, the caring nursing staff at Gulf Coast Medical Center, and members of the Houston Hospice - El Campo Branch.

As per her request, following cremation her remains were interred at Sealy Cemetery in a private ceremony on Thursday, May 24.

Sympathy is extended to the family in their loss.

Treatment for This Rare Skin Condition

Scleroderma is a skin and connective tissue condition characterized by thickening and hardening of the skin. This condition is rare and occurs more commonly in women and adults. Symptoms include numbness in fingers, toes and face, joint stiffness, sores over joints, and puffy hands and feet. Blood vessels and internal organs may also be affected in some cases. Scleroderma occurs when collagen, a fibrous protein which comprises the connective tissues, is overproduced in the body, and therefore overaccumulates.

While there is no cure for scleroderma, medications are available to help alleviate symptoms and prevent further complications. For a localized condition, topical treatments, such as moisturizers or steroids may be prescribed to apply to the affected area. Medications which dilate blood vessels and improve circulation may also be prescribed. These include calcium channel blockers, such as Norvasc. Creams containing nitroglycerin also may improve circulation. Nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs may be given along with disease-modifying antirheumatic drugs such as hydroxychloroquine (Plaquenil), penicillamine (Cuprimine, Depen), and methotrexate (Rheumatrex, Trexall). Immunosuppressants, such as cyclophosphamide (Cytoxan), may be used.
