Anyone planning to hunt in another state should verify hunter safety requirements with that state.

Several states require a safety certificate for those born on or after Jan. 1, 1949.

Individuals who wish to take the course may register by contacting Philip Guenther at 979/562-2124, philg@cvtv.net or Curtis Henrichs at 361/596-7112.

PREVENTING PERIODONTAL DISEASE

The first line of defense against periodontal disease is prevention. This includes a good oral hygiene routine at home. Brushing twice a day and cleaning in between teeth once a day with floss or an interdental cleaner helps prevent plaque from accumulating. The staff at your dental office may provide instructions on additional cleaning methods or oral hygiene products to use at home.

Regular dental checkups and cleanings are important in preventing periodontal diseases. If these measures are not taken, the likelihood of disease increases.

In some cases, even with these measures, a certain percentage of patients experience some form of periodontal disease that must be treated. Preventing and treating the disease in the early stages are the best ways to keep your smile healthy.
