THC 2008 Marker Apps. Start Soon

The Texas Historical Commission (THC) will begin accepting applications for 2008 Official Texas Historical Markers beginning Nov. 1, 2007 in anticipation of the Jan. 15, 2008 deadline.

Under the new program instituted last year, applications will now be submitted electronically for review.

Potential sponsors interested in applying for a marker should first meet with their county historical commission (CHC) for assistance compiling their application and for guidance on local procedures and reviews.

Application forms and guidelines are now available on the THC web site at www.thc.state.tx.us.

Also available online are detailed marker research guides that provide information on how to compile the requisite research for a variety of eligible topics including structures, cemeteries, individuals, communities and churches, to name a few.

October Archeology Month

Get out and explore Texas' amazing archeological sites and learn more about the state's dynamic past.

October is Texas Archeology Month (TAM) and a host of events are taking place throughout the state.

TAM helps promote the historical significance of the state's archeological sites, increasing the public's appreciation of proper archeological practices and highlighting the significance of the contributions made by professional and avocational archeologists.

Communities across the state will host archeology fairs and events, helping to further the success of one of the biggest state celebrations of archeology in the country.

Individuals are encouraged to get involved and immerse themselves in the spirit of Texas' past.

TAM supporters have planned numerous educational and entertaining activities for this year's celebration including demonstrations of native crafts and technologies, lectures, tours of archeological sites and laboratories and hands-on activities including mock digs and rock art replication.

Always a key draw are the archeology fairs happening in locations like Alto, Brownsville, Del Rio, Denton, El Paso and Texarkana to name a few.

The THC is proud to sponsor TAM in association with the Texas

Archeological Society and the Council of Texas Archeologists.

To find out what's planned for your area, request a free copy of the colorful TAM Calendar of Events by contacting the THC's Archeology Division at 512-463-6096 or visit the THC web site to download the calendar.
