Did You Know? Did You Know?

According to the American Lung Association (ALA), particle pollution is the most dangerous and deadly of widespread outdoor air pollutants.

Formerly known as soot, particle pollution itself is not visible, though the haze it creates when the sunlight hits it is visible.

Some of the main sources of particle pollution are ash, diesel exhaust (commonly from buses, trucks and heavy equipment), chemicals, metals, and aerosols.

The ALA reports the city most polluted by short-term particle pollution in the United States is Los Angeles, including the surrounding areas of Long Beach and Riverside.

The greater Los Angeles area is followed by Pittsburgh-New Castle and Fresno, and Bakersfield, California, as the cities most polluted by short-term particle pollution.

While larger particles can be coughed or sneezed out thanks to the body's natural defense system, smaller particles can be very dangerous.

That's because they can get deep in the lungs, remaining there and resulting in sickness or disease.

The cleanest area for short-term particle pollution in the U.S. is Baldwin County, Alabama, which is situated in southern Alabama along the Gulf Coast and includes 431 square miles of water.

Of the remaining counties in the top 10 cleanest areas to live, four are in Arizona, including Cochise and Pima Counties, the latter of which includes the city of Tucson.

The First Baptist Church of Eagle Lake invites you to the new prayer garden on Prairie Avenue.

This garden is a place of prayer for all people. The gates are open daily and you are welcome to come for prayer, meditation, or just to linger for a while. You may not wish to do so today, but if you ever need a peaceful place to be with God or to gather your thoughts, remember that we have created this garden for you.

A dedication service will be held on Monday morning, May 12 at 10 a.m.

Be our invited guest.
