

Noah's Way Exotic Petting Zoo and Pony Rides Sponsored by Los Cabos

A new attraction for young 2008 fair patrons will be Noah's Way Exotic Petting Zoo and Pony Rides from Salado, Texas. The petting zoo and pony rides are being sponsored by Los Cabos

Mexican Grill, formerly Guadalajara Mexican Restaurant, in Columbus. Owner Isidro Sanchez commented, "we are pleased to be able to sponsor something special for the children who come to the fair."

Noah's Way is a full service entertainment venue that offers fun for all ages. Their zoo consists of deer, antelope, kangaroos, wallabies, llamas, lemurs, camels, four-horn sheep and exotic cattle.

Most of these animals are free roaming in an enclosure with the bigger animals penned but still accessible to the attendees.

All animals are hand raised and love interaction with people.

The pony rides are done on a ring with six ponies running at a time. The ponies are all seasoned veterans to large group activities and are not easily excitable.

Noah's way will be set up on the fairgrounds with their petting zoo and pony rides from Thursday through Sunday. Come enjoy!!

Lanky The Clown will be on hand at the Fair this year to delight fairgoers young and old.

Fair Dedication

was the founder and chairman of the traditional Colorado County Fair Kick-off Dance and Scholarship Auction for many years. In 2004, the event became what is now the highly successful Rajun Cajun Fest Crawfish Boil and Scholarship Auction. She served on several fair committees including insurance, budget and her favorite, entertainment. She had a knack for picking musical talent and helped bring top Nashville acts to the fair during her tenure.

She is survived by her brother and sister-in-law, Ted and Audra Kemper of Bellville, the love of her life and fiance', Jerry Henneke of Cat Spring, two nephews, a niece, other relatives and many dear friends. She was preceded in death by her parents and her sister, Sandra Graham.

The 2008 fair will not be the same without Joyce, but her spirit of volunteerism will be present in each individual who helps make the 30th Annual Colorado County Fair a reality.
