Billy Wayne David
Billy Wayne David, 57, of Columbus and Huntsville passed away at Methodist Hospital in Houston, on September 18.

Billy was born June 1, 1951, in Columbus to Frank William and Hertha David. He was an avid fisherman and golfer. His happiest times were when he was fishing for salmon in Canada or on the golf course with his friends. His favorite place to fish around Columbus was on Fayetteville Lake. He was on the lake the first day it opened and spent many years charting and studying the layout of the lake. If he took you fishing he'd tell you not to be telling people his spots "seriously".

Billy also loved to cook and bake. He owned the City Café in Columbus where he made the most delicious meals and rolls. The café had a great family atmosphere where locals gathered to drink coffee and share their knowledge with each other. Many of his friends came to eat and visit with him while he worked. He often put them to work when he was busy. Many family members worked at the café throughout the years and added to the success of the business. One notable family member that Billy cared for and looked up to was Raymond Keyser who was a father figure to Billy and they did many things together.

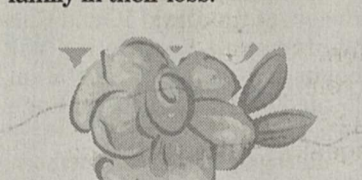

In 2002, he developed lymphoma and closed the café. It is still missed to this day by the community. After beating lymphoma, he moved to Huntsville and opened Momma's Kitchen Door, a bakery. He made kolaches, rolls, and breakfast sandwiches. It was not long after opening that the community and many students of Sam Houston became hooked on his baked goods. His bakery was voted by Readers of the Huntsville Item as the 2008 Reader's Choice Best Bakery. Billy made many friends in Huntsville and loved his work there.

Billy is survived by brothers and sister-in-law, Frank David of Columbus, Johnnie David and wife, Lois, of Weimar; sisters and brothers-in-law, Nancy Keyser and husband, Raymond, of Columbus, Imogene Kansteiner and husband, L.E., of Columbus, Helen Jurries and husband, Royce, of Columbus, Margie Knippel and husband, Erwin, of Columbus, Mary Jane Schobel of Roanoke, Texas, Diane Shofner of Round Rock, Texas; special friend, Betty Vail of Houston; and numerous nieces and nephews and a host of great friends.

He is preceded in death by his parents, Frank and Hertha David; and infant sister, Fay Marie David. A memorial service will be held on September 27, at 2:30 p.m. at the Veteran's Hall in Columbus to celebrate Billy's life. Dress will be casual. In lieu of flowers memorials may be given to the Hertha David Scholarship Fund C/O Columbus State Bank, P.O. Box 249, Columbus, Texas 78934. Eagle Lake Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Sympathy is extended to the family in their loss.

Shingle Treatments Reduce Symptom Severity
Shingles is an infection caused by the varicella zoster virus (VZV), a herpes virus. The infection typically causes a painful red rash. This is the same virus that causes chicken pox, and may become active again later in life in persons who have previously had chickenpox. Symptoms of shingles could include tingling, blistering of the skin, itching, fever, and headache. A rash on only one side of the body is characteristic. This condition occurs more commonly in older adults, as well as persons with weakened immune systems. Decreased immunity to infections due to aging may be a contributing factor. Although shingles is not contagious, the virus may be transmitted to persons who have not previously been infected, and could cause chickenpox in the exposed individuals.
Treatment may consist of antiviral drugs, anti-inflammatory medications, and pain relievers. Oral antivirals, such as acyclovir (Zovirax), valacyclovir (Valtrex), and famciclovir (Famvir), may be prescribed to help decrease the duration and severity of symptoms. A corticosteroid, such as prednisone, may be prescribed to decrease inflammation. A herpes zoster vaccine (Zostavax) is available for prevention of shingles. It is recommended that persons over 60 receive the Zostavax vaccine.
