New Programs Launched At RHS

New programs for attendance incentives and classroom leadership rewards began at Rice High School last week.

The attendance incentive program was restructured and a new program, Raider of the Week, was started.

Thirty names were drawn from the 191 students who had perfect attendance in the first six weeks of school. They were treated to a pizza lunch served outside at the newly created picnic area.

Picnic tables and umbrellas were provided for seating and horseshoes and ping pong were available for entertainment during the lunch period.

Only the students who were drawn for the reward were allowed outside in the picnic area.

In the future, the incentive lunches will be held every three weeks.

At year end, a special lunch will be provided for the students who have had perfect attendance all year.

The Raider of the Week program recognizes one student each week. The faculty makes the selection based on the student's attitude and effort in the classroom.

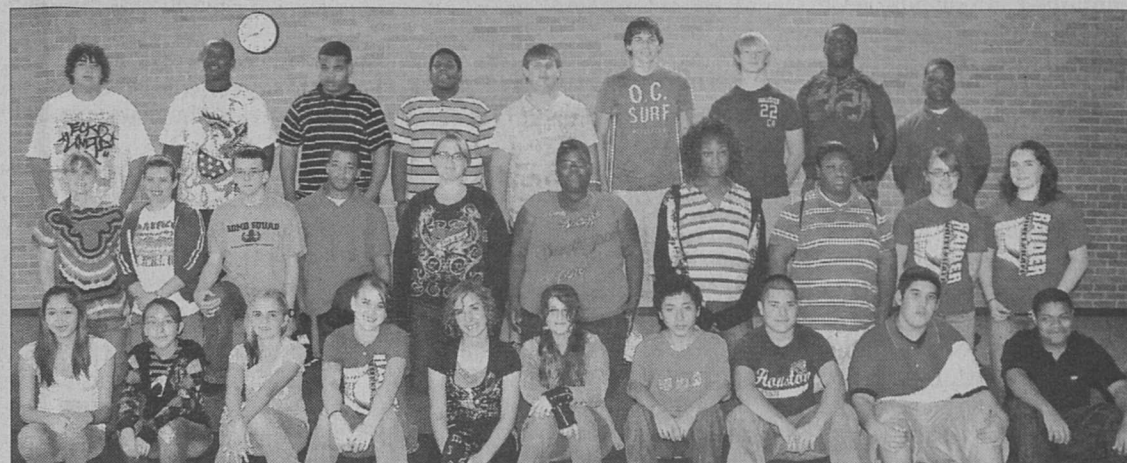

Principal Eric Grogan suggested that teachers choose a student who demonstrates leadership in the classroom through promptness, turning in work in a timely fashion, politeness, helping others, and participation. Senior Cody Munoz was selected as the first honoree.

Each week the Raider of the Week will be announced through the press.

The student will be allowed to choose three friends to join them in playing video games on the newly purchased Wii game system during lunch. Other students can look on, but cannot play.

The new programs are intended to motivate and reward students. They are paid for through grant funds and the district's annual expenditure for attendance incentives.

Perfect Attendance Award winners: front: Nancy Castillo, Christina Lopez, Brittani Machart, Cydney Cook, Tina Till, Amy Clark, Jason Samaniego, Justin Garza, Nick Contreras, and Dylan Grace; middle, Shaina Bowen, Kaydi Gold, Michael Fore, Terrance Shorter, Jennifer McDonald, Natasha Frazier, Brittnee Flowers, Najae Glover, Amy Huggins, and Kelly Al-Obaidi; back, Adriel Hernandez, Jonovan Allen, Deon Dabney, Darius Lowe, Ryan Korenek, Matt Hoffman, Myles Dumont, Chris Dorsey, and Jimmy Foster. Raider of the Week

Cody Munoz, Rice High School senior, was chosen by the faculty as the Raider of the Week. He is the son of Manuel and Melissa Munoz of Sheridan.

Cody is an honor roll student and serves as the photo editor of the yearbook staff. His favorite subject has always been science. "I love biology," he said.

Away from school Cody enjoys yard work and gardening, playing video games, and listening to alternative and country music. In the summer he works at Splashway Water Park.

After graduation Cody plans to enter college to begin his studies for a career in medicine.

A few of the perfect attendance honorees enjoy their pizza lunch.
