Cooper Gives Presentation To Study Club

members have enjoyed a volume of diverse programs throughout their 90 years as a local library 2010 program presented by Grace Sinclair Cooper at Wintermann Library was certainly one to be remembered by those present to hear, view and learn about the life and legacy of the Dutch artist of the 17th century, Johannes Vermeer (1632-1675).

Vermeer began about 10 years ago when she was included in an invitation to visit acquaintances living in Delft, The Netherlands. She was told to read a novel, Girl With A Pearl Earring, before departure. The novel introduced experience.

The novel, the Holland adventure with friends, viewing Maurishuis and subsequent travel chael Cooper to view other works painters of all time.

The Eagle Lake Study Club of the Dutch master provided the nucleus for her program.

Mrs. Cooper exhibited matted reproductions of Vermeer's support organization. The 13 Jan 34 known surviving paintings in chronological order along the library walls. Michael Cooper assisted with power point projection of each painting as Mrs. Cooper guided the audience to the details that identify Vermeer's greatness. Through his paintings he left a pictorial record of the middle Grace Cooper's interest in class Dutch people of that period, of their customs, homes and dress. He transformed the reality of every day life and humble subjects into gentle paintings with his unique skill of illuminating his subject matter.

Vermeer's entire life was her to the world she was about to spent in Delft. A scrupulous craftsman, he produced a limited quantity of work. Only a few paintings survive.
