Sheridan Students Read To Help Others

Through ClassroomsCare this Spring, Classes Read 50 Books to Support Scholastic Book Clubs Donation of 250,000 Books to Children of Families Serving in the Military 4th, 5th, and 6th graders from Sheridan Elementary School are helping others while they help themselves this school year by participating in scholastic Book Clubs' ClassroomsCare program, a philanthropy-based literacy campaign designed to teach children about the joys and importance of reading and giving.

This Spring, Mrs. Tina McMillian's reading students and thousands of others across the country, each read 50 books to show their support of Scholastic Book Clubs, a division of Scholastic, the global children's publishing and media company, who will donate 250,000 new books to children of families living on military bases.

Classrooms keep track of books read on posters and online, and then tell Scholastic when they've finished. Any books kids read in the classroom, with their parents or on their own count toward the goal. Teachers also can also use lesson plans and activities available at www.scholastic.com/classroomsCare to incorporate this program into their curriculum.

Books are donated this Spring through two of Scholastic Book Clubs' charity partner, Reach Out and Read and Kids in Distressed Situations, who help identify children who need books the most.

"It's always exciting to see children helping children through the ClassroomsCare program," said Judy Newman, President of Scholastic Book Clubs. "With support and hard work of students across the country, thousands of children living on military bases whose parents are serving our country will get books of their own. The students of Sheridan Elementary are spreading their love of reading and books while becoming better readers themselves!"

"Scholastic Book Clubs ClassroomsCare offers both students and teachers an opportunity to celebrate the importance of reading and to demonstrate our spirit of service and sharing," said Mike Keenon, Principal.

One Sheridan 4th grader, proud of his class's accomplishment, beamed, "I can't believe our class read so many books so quickly!"

The ClassroomsCare initiative is open to all classrooms nationwide through Scholastic Book Club catalogues and the Scholastic web site. For more than 60 years, Scholastic Book Clubs have provided monthly catalogues offering top quality books and reading materials from all publishers each month, providing the most sought-after titles at affordable prices for children in classrooms nationwide.
