Inherited Condition May Require Anticoagulants
Factor V Leiden is a common cause of inherited thrombophilia. People with the inherited factor V Leiden gene are at an increased risk of blood vessel thrombosis. A change in this factor may cause resistance to a substance called activated protein C. This all leads to a defect in the body's anticoagulation system. Activated protein C is a natural body substance that serves as an anticoagulant. People with factor V Leiden have an increased risk of venous thromboembolism (VTE), deep venous thrombosis (DVT) and pulmonary embolism (PE).
Treatments for factor V Leiden may not be necessary, unless there are other risk factors for thrombosis present, such as surgery or pregnancy. If a person with factor V Leiden experiences a VTE, treatment usually includes heparin, and then anticoagulation therapy with the oral tablet warfarin (Coumadin). Heparin is an anticoagulant, which prevents the formation of a blood vessel thrombus. Low-molecular weight heparins include enoxaparin (Lovenox) and dalteparin (Fragmin). Warfarin requires frequent monitoring of drug blood levels. Foods containing vitamin K may decrease the effects of warfarin, and should be consumed in a consistent amount to avoid fluctuations.

Obituaries

Warren Zachary Scott, Sr.
On December 8, 1980, a handsome baby boy was born into the arms of two loving parents, Jessie Upson and Diana Scott.
They gave him the precious name of Warren Zachary Scott.
He attended the public schools of Altair graduating from Rice High School, Class of 1999, where he excelled as an athlete.
Furthering his education, he attended Blinn College in Brenham.
He worked at CenterPoint Energy for several years, but ended his journey at BAE Systems.
Warren accepted Christ at an early age. He displayed his faith through baptism and became a member of Greater Rising Star Baptist Church under the leadership of the late Rev. Ollie Scott.
Now the church is currently under the direction of Rev. Truman Scott, Sr.
In 2002, Warren was blessed with two children, Warren, Jr. and Lauren Renell while helping in the upbringing of his stepson, Corey Farrow, Jr.
Several years later in 2005, he again received happiness in the form of Mildred Smith. Four years into the relationship, their love blessed them with a daughter named Zackavia Kaelra.

Tours Offered For Prairie Chicken Fest

Personnel at the Attwater Prairie Chicken National Wildlife Refuge and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service volunteers will be conducting special guided tours of the refuge during the sixteenth annual Attwater's Prairie Chicken Festival, April 10th and 11th.
The celebration was conceived in 1995 through cooperative efforts from the Eagle Lake Chamber of Commerce, Houston Audubon Society, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in an effort to enhance the awareness of this imperiled bird.
The entrance to the refuge is on FM 3013, about 6.5 miles north-east of Eagle Lake.
The first booming grounds tour leaves promptly at 7:00 am with vans leaving after that time as they fill up.
These early morning tours have a good chance of seeing Attwater's prairie chickens on the booming grounds, but there is no guarantee.
The refuge is hosting additional events as well. Additional guided tours begin at 10:30 am, 12:00 pm, and 1:30 pm on both Saturday (April 10th) and Sunday (April 11th).
All tours will take visitors into an area that is normally closed to the public and will touch on such topics as refuge management techniques, prairie chicken recovery efforts, and coastal prairie ecosystem issues.
These tours are expected to last less than 2 hours, and will begin at the refuge visitor center.
Birdwatchers, whether experienced or beginners, can enjoy a walking tour from 8:45 am to 10:30 am each day.
Following the walk, hop on a van and tour the refuge's Teal Marsh and Pintail Marsh from 10:45 am to 12:15 pm each day. These guided tours will be led by experienced birders.

Living Hope Hosting Brenda Lange To Speak

Living Hope Church (LHC), at the corner of Church and McCarty Streets in Eagle Lake announces a special service on Wednesday, April 7 at 7 p.m. featuring Brenda Lange.
Brenda is the daughter of the Willard Lange's of Eagle Lake and has worked in missions for many years with Orphans Unlimited in Mozambique, East Africa.
Brenda was the focus of Living Hope's VBS missions offering last year.
Everyone interested in missionary work or just wanting to hear the work that Brenda is doing in Africa to spread the good news to who Jesus called "the least of these" is invited to attend.
This is a real work of God that you can be a part of.
Call Pastor Joe or Mercy Fling at 979-234-5536 for more information.
